*Be a Cub
for a Week!*

...experience the
All-American Dream.

...be part of this lineup.

JENKINS, SANTO, KESSINGER, WILLIAMS, BECKERT, HUNDLEY

Each day for a week you'll field grounders and fly-balls, take batting practice, run the bases and receive concentrated personal instruction from former Cub players. You'll receive your own official Cub uniform, play in daily intrasquad games and, finally, challenge the former Cubs team in an All-Star game. Following the game there will be an awards ceremony. Within 3 to 4 weeks you'll receive a video cassette highlighting your "major league" experience.

Complete package, including coaching, equipment, transportation and accommodations, is only $2,895, based on departure from Chicago.

ABOUT THE COVER

The 1984 Cubs did indeed "touch all the bases." The Cubs were honored with four distinctive awards in 1984. Dallas Green earned Executive of the Year honors. Ryne Sandberg was the National League's Most Valuable Player. Rick Sutcliffe was the league's Cy Young Award winner. Jim Frey was named National League Manager of the Year. The cover is an oil painting by artist Jim Devine of Buffalo, WY.

The 1985 Chicago Cubs Media Guide was written and edited by the Chicago Cubs Public Relations staff of Bob Ibach, Ned Colletti and Sharon Pannozzo and is based on information available through February 4, 1985.

DALLAS GREEN

PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

When Dallas Green arrived in Chicago in October of 1981 he promised Chicago Cub fans a change of scenery in the National League standings.

In 1984 Dallas Green and the Cubs fulfilled that promise. For the first time in 39 seasons the Cubs were participants in post-season play. They were the champions of the National League Eastern Division.

And, like many other members of the organization, the architect of the NEW Chicago Cubs received his due after the completion of that memorable 1984 campaign.

Last November Green was named baseball's Executive of the Year by numerous organizations, most notably by The Sporting News, United Press International and ESPN-TV. He also received the Will Harridge Achievement Award at the annual Diamond Dinner in Chicago in early January from the Chicago Chapter of the BBWAA. Later that same month Green was named Chicagoan of the Year by the Chicago Press Club.

Tribune Company, owners of the Cubs, also recognized Green's achievements when they named him club president on December 18. Green replaced Jim Finks, who had resigned. In addition to his new title, Green also retained his role as the Cubs General Manager, a position he has held for three seasons. On October 15, 1981 Tribune Company appointed Green as the club's Executive Vice-President and General Manager.

"I'm flattered that Tribune Company has given me this new position, but titles don't mean a heckuva lot to me," said Green. "I'll do as much screaming and hollaring as I've always done."

Motivation—an intense desire to succeed—has been a Dallas Green trademark throughout his professional baseball career. During his 29 years in baseball, people who have come to know Green leave with a few instant impressions:

- He is not satisfied with anything but a total effort, be it from a ballplayer or from a front-office secretary.
- He is an achiever, a man who thinks and acts positively. The bottom line is a winning effort.
- He is a very loyal and dedicated individual. . . and expects others to be the same.
- He is a warm, compassionate person, dedicated to his family and the Cubs. In many respects, the Cubs are part of his family.

Dallas Green, or Big D as some friends call him, enters the 1985 season with high expectations.

"It was a record year for the Chicago Cubs in 1984, on and off the field," Green said shortly before the 1985 season began. "Not only did we win the division, but we broke all attendance records at Wrigley Field. Our fans were outstanding. They had a great season as well.

"For the first time in a long time Cub fans were able to hold their heads high. It hurt like the devil to lose in the playoffs, but I know, looking back, it was a fun year for our fans.

"In the off-season we made a commitment to keep the 1984 team intact so that we could have another go at it in 1985. We got that job done (the Cubs made a key trade with the Yankees during the winter meetings and signed their three free-agent starting pitchers) and now let's root like heck for this club to be successful in 1985."

Before he came to Chicago, Dallas had steadily climbed the organization ladder of the Philadelphia Phillies. He worked his way up from the bottom of that organization, all the while gaining valuable knowledge and insight at every stop. His efforts reached a climax in 1980 when Green managed the Phillies to the World Championship. Ironically the club he beat was Kansas City, managed by Jim Frey, whom he hired to manage the Cubs in the fall of 1983. The World Series title was the only one ever for that franchise in more than 100 years. In 1983, Green was recognized for this achievement when Phillie fans named him the manager of the Philadelphia Centennial Team.

Actually, Green's baseball career began on the pitching mound. He played 5½ years in the Phillies farm system beginning in 1955, then spent six years (1960-64 and 1967) with the parent team. In between there were short coffee stops with the Washington Senators (1965) and the New York Mets (1966). He retired in 1967 after pitching in eight games with the Phillies. His lifetime major league record was 20-22 despite a fastball that was compared to some of the hardest-throwing pitchers of his era.

After his playing career ended in 1967, Green served in the Phil's farm system as the Reading, PA (Eastern League) player-pitching coach the remainder of that season. In 1968 he managed Huron, SD (Northern League) and the following year piloted Pulaski, VA. In 1970 he became the assistant to Paul Owens, the club's director of minor leagues. From there he moved quickly to the top of that department when Owens was elevated to the director of personnel in June of 1972.

Green held that position until August 31, 1979 when he replaced Danny Ozark as Phillies manager and finished with a 19-11 record the remainder of the season. That "interim" position soon became permanent... and very successful. In his first full season at the helm in 1980, Green finished with a 91-71 mark, good enough to win the N.L. Eastern Division. Next it was on to the League Championship Series and victory over Houston. Finally there was the dramatic World Series triumph over the Kansas City Royals in six games. That accomplishment made him only the fourth rookie big league manager to win a World Series, the others being Bucky Harris (1924 Washington Senators), Eddie Dyer (1946 St. Louis Cardinals) and Ralph Houk (1961 New York Yankees).

Green was born August 4, 1934 in Newport, Delaware and attended the University of Delaware, where he received a Bachelor's degree in 1981. He first signed with the Phillies in 1955 after his junior year at Delaware and reported to Reidsville, NC.

In 1983 he was inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame for the state of Delaware.

Dallas married the former Sylvia Taylor in 1958. They have four children—Dana, John, Kim and Douglas. The Greens still own a 30-acre farm in West Grove, PA but maintain a residence in Winnetka, IL.

DID YOU KNOW?

Pete Rose's only major league grand slam was hit off Dallas Green of the Philadelphia Phillies.

WRIGLEY FIELD—HOME OF THE CUBS

Although many improvements have been made to the park in the last two decades, increasing comfort and convenience for the spectators, Wrigley Field has remained virtually untarnished by the pervading force of technology. The only ballpark without artificial lighting, the only park with ivy vines covering the outfield walls, lives on, much the same as it was when it opened in 1914. It is one of the few remaining parks in the major leagues that was designed for the sole purpose of playing baseball.

Wrigley Field was built in 1914 with a capacity of 14,000. It was built to house the Chicago Whales of the newly formed Federal League, a circuit which would last only two years before folding for financial reasons. Chicago's entry at that time was nicknamed the Chiefs and was the property of Charles H. Weeghman, a wealthy restaurant chain owner. Weeghman Park, as it was known, would change its name to Cubs Park, and later Wrigley Field.

The cost of building Weeghman Park was estimated at $250,000 and at one time there were 490 men working on the project. More than 4,000 yards of soil and four acres of bluegrass were brought into the park.

The first National League game wasn't played at Weeghman Park until April 20, 1916 when the Cubs beat Cincinnati, 7-6, in 11 innings. In 1926 the field was officially named Wrigley Field in honor of William Wrigley, Jr., the club's owner. Added renovation in the 1920s and 1930s eventually increased to park's capacity to 37,275.

Wrigley Field is a place which has given us such historic moments as:

- Babe Ruth supposedly pointing to a spot where he then proceeded to hit Charlie Root's next pitch.
- Gabby Hartnett's famous "Homer in the Gloamin."
- The great 1917 pitching duel between Fred Toney (Reds) and Jim "Hippo" Vaughn, Toney winning on a no-hitter in the 10th inning.

The Cubs' famed "Murderers Row" of Rogers Hornsby, Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson and Charlie Grimm left behind many a memory at Wrigley Field; pitchers like Grover Cleveland Alexander, Dizzy Dean, Claude Passeau, Charlie Root, Larry French and Bill Lee toed the pitching rubber at Wrigley Field; and visiting players like Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, Mel Ott, Bill Terry, Frankie Frisch, the Waner brothers, Jimmy Foxx, Honus Wagner and Mickey Cochrane, to name a few, graced the playing surface at Wrigley Field.

One of the earlier traditions of the park which still remains today is the flying of a flag bearing a "W" or an "L" atop the scoreboard after a game to inform passersby of the outcome of the day's contest. A blue flag with a white "W" indicates victory; a flag with a blue "L" denotes a loss. To inform night travelers of the results, a new innovation was added in 1978—a blue light atop the scoreboard signals victory and a white light indicates defeat.

The Wrigley Field scoreboard was constructed in 1937 when the outfield area was renovated to provide improved bleacher seating. Except for a few touches of modernization here and there—like the electronic message board—the original scoreboard remains intact, a reminder of the past when baseball did not resort to gimmickry, a board put together during a period of time when man knew nothing about instant replays and fireworks coming out of scoreboards.

The score-by-innings as well as the pitcher's numbers are all changed by hand. The numbers signaling batter, ball, strike and out, along with the occasional use of the H & E to signify hit and error are "eyelits" rather than electronic lights. There are no bulbs used, although to someone sitting in the box seats or grandstands it does appear that there are tiny lightbulbs.

In recent years, improvements have been made to the park to make an afternoon at Wrigley Field a comfortable and enjoyable experience. The seats in the lower grandstand down both foul lines have been turned in so that the fans sitting in those areas could easily see home plate. The upper deck was also completely restructured (a project which took four years beginning in 1968.) Plastic, self-rising contour seats were installed in the lower deck reserved seating area, replacing folding chairs. In 1981-82, new office space was created and old offices refurbished in the administrative area behind home plate. In 1983, a new ticket office was built directly behind home plate. During the winter of 1984, a new home clubhouse was completed under the third base stands.

FACTS ABOUT WRIGLEY FIELD

Did you know that:

1. No batted baseball has ever hit the centerfield scoreboard. Two balls barely missed it, clearing the bleachers and landing on Waveland and Sheffield Avenues. One ball was hit by Roberto Clemente to right-center; the other by Bill "Swish" Nicholson, to left-center.
2. The original vines were purchased and planted by Bill Veeck in 1938. Veeck first bought Bittersweet and strung it from the top of the wall to the bottom. Meanwhile, Veeck planted the ivy at the base of the wall.
3. The entire bleacher wall is 11 feet high. The basket attached to the wall was constructed in 1970.
4. Ernie Banks is the only Cubs player to have his uniform number (14) retired. It is imprinted on the flag which hangs from the leftfield foul pole.
5. A live cub bear was in attendance at the very first National League game played at Wrigley Field (then Weeghman Park) in 1916.

HIGHLIGHTS IN CUBS HISTORY

Dallas Green became the new Cubs president and Chief Executive Officer on December 18, 1984 when he replaced Jim Finks, who resigned from that position effective December 31, 1984. Green also retained his title as General Manager of the Cubs.

The Cubs drew a Wrigley Field record 2,107,665 fans during the 1984 season. That total easily surpassed the previous record of 1,674,993 set in 1969.

The Cubs won their first National League Eastern Division championship in 1984 when they compiled a 96-65 record. It was the first time since the 1945 season that the Cubs advanced into post-season competition. The 96 victories were also the most by a Cubs team since the 1945 club went 98-56.

Jim Finks was appointed President and Chief Executive Officer of the Cubs on September 21, 1983.

Tribune Company acquired the Cubs in August of 1981 for $20.5 million after the Wrigley Family had sold the team, with principal stockholder William Wrigley passing on controlling interest on June 16, 1981.

The new era of the Cubs, or as it would later be called "Building A New Tradition", was ushered in by Cubs Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Board, Andrew J. McKenna, and Stanton R. Cook, President and CEO of Tribune Company. On October 15, 1981, Dallas Green became the chief architect of the "New Tradition" when he was named the Cubs Executive Vice-President and General Manager. Green, who had been the driving force as field manager of the 1980 World Champion Philadelphia Phillies, named Lee Elia, a former Phils third base coach, as the club's manager. Although a new era began in the fall of 1981, the tradition and rich heritage of Wrigley Field and Cubs teams of the past have not been forgotten. Of the eight original charter members of the National League, only the Cubs have operated continuously in the same city in which they were franchised.

The creation of the National League in 1876 is largely credited to William A. Hulbert, the first president of the Chicago club. Until his death in 1882, he held the dual role of league president and club president. With the assistance of Albert G. Spalding, the team's first manager, Hulbert drafted the National League constitution and by-laws in 1875. Over 100 years later, these rules have almost remained unchanged.

In 1907 "Cubs" was officially adopted as the nickname of the team. Although nicknames were not official in the early years of the league, the Chicago club was first dubbed with "White Stockings". After 1890, the most popular nicknames for the team were "Colts" and "Orphans". Legend has it that a newspaper writer first used the "Cubs" name on March 27, 1902 while searching for a short nickname to fit a headline.

The Wrigley family's involvement with the Cubs started after the 1915 season when William Wrigley, Jr. and a group of Chicago businessmen purchased the team from the Taft family of Cincinnati. In 1921, Wrigley became majority stockholder. After his death in 1932, his interest passed to his son Philip K. Wrigley. Upon Philip's death in 1977, principal interest in the ball club was left to William Wrigley. The sale of the club by William Wrigley in 1981 ended the longest continuous operation of a franchise by the same family in the same city in major league baseball history.

NOTES ON CUBS HISTORY

In 109 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 15,942 games and won 8,227 (151 were tied), both lifetime and major league records.

The Cubs, as a team, have hit 100 or more home runs in 32 of their last 34 seasons.

The 1984 Chicago Cubs smashed all previous Wrigley Field attendance records by drawing 2,107,655 fans in 75 dates, an average of 28,102. The old attendance record was 1,674,993 set in 1969. The '84 Cubs drew 627,938 more fans at Wrigley Field than in '83.

The 1984 Cubs also set a road attendance record for the franchise, attracting 1,998,933 fans. That gave the ballclub a total attendance mark of 4,106,588, a club total attendance record.

The Cubs clinched their first National League Eastern Division title in Pittsburgh on September 24, 1984 as Rick Sutcliffe downed the Pirates, 4-1, on a 2-hitter. Joe Orsulak struck out to end the game. Gary Matthews collected the game-winning RBI.

On June 23, 1984, Ryne Sandberg collected two late-inning homers against St. Louis in one of the most memorable games ever played at Wrigley Field. Sandberg led off the 9th inning with a solo home run against Bruce Sutter to tie the game at 9-9, then hit a 2-run, two-out homer—again off Sutter—in the 10th to tie the game at 11-11. The Cubs won the game, 12-11, in the 11th on a single by Dave Owen. On the afternoon, Sandberg went 5-for-6 with 2 homers and 7 RBI.

The 1984 Cubs allowed just 99 home runs, the lowest amount since 1953.

The Cubs won 19 games in their final at-bat in 1984.

Six members of the Cubs had 80 or more RBI in 1984. The last National League team to have that many with 80 or more RBI in the same season was the 1969 Cincinnati Reds.

Ryne Sandberg came within a triple and home run of becoming the first player in major league history to collect 200 hits and 20 or more homers, triples, doubles and stolen bases in the same season.

On June 2, 1983, Pittsburgh pitcher Rick Rhoden hit into a triple play at Wrigley Field. With Steve Trout pitching, Rhoden hit a grounder to third baseman Ron Cey. Cey forced Dale Berra at third and threw to second baseman Ryne Sandberg who forced Junior Ortiz at second. Sandberg's relay to first baseman Bill Buckner tripled up Rhoden. It was the first triple play by the Cubs since July 2, 1972 when Pittsburgh's Manny Sanguillen hit into one.

Cubs hit the 8,000 victory mark on May 13, 1982 against the Houston Astros in the Astrodome. Allen Ripley was the winning pitcher for the Cubs that day. This is the most wins ever by a pro franchise in one city.

Ernie Banks became the first Cub to ever have his uniform (#14) retired on August 22, 1982.

On May 25, 1982, against San Diego at Jack Murphy Stadium, Fergie Jenkins became only the 7th man in baseball history to record 3,000 strikeouts.

The all-time major league record for wins in a season and winning percentage in a season is held by the 1906 Cubs, who won 116 and lost 36, for a .763 percentage.

On September 26, 1908, Cubs pitcher Ed Reulbach pitched both ends of a doubleheader against Brooklyn, shutting them out by scores of 5-0 and 3-0.

The largest crowd ever to see a baseball game at Wrigley Field was 51,556 on June 27, 1930, against Brooklyn. Of that number, 30,476 were Ladies Day guests and 1,332 passholders, so the official paid crowd that day was only 19,748.

On August 17-18, 1982 the Dodgers beat the Cubs 2-1 in a 21-inning game that was the second longest game played in Cubs history, tying a 21-inning affair in 1918 against Philadelphia and falling one shy of the club's all-time record of 22 innings set on May 22, 1927 when the Cubs defeated Boston 4-3 in Boston. The 21-inning contest also ties a record for most innings played by a Cubs team at home. On July 17, 1918 the Cubs beat Philadelphia 2-1 in a 21-inning game played in Chicago.

The 1935 Cubs set the record for consecutive wins in a season with 21 in a row.

The 1945 Cubs helped themselves to the National League pennant as they swept 19 doubleheaders and split 10.

The 1958 Cubs hit 182 homers during the season to establish the club record.

Ernie Banks hit the 500th home run of his career into the leftfield bleachers on May 12, 1970 off Atlanta's Pat Jarvis.

The largest Opening Day crowd at Wrigley Field, 45,777, attended the 1978 home opener vs. Pittsburgh on April 4.

During the 1982 campaign, the Cubs hit into two triple plays, both against the New York Mets. On August 3, at Wrigley Field, Larry Bowa hit into a triple play that went from SS Bob Bailor to 2B Wally Backman to 1B Dave Kingman. On September 29 in New York, Keith Moreland hit into another triple play, 2B Brian Giles unassisted to 1B Rusty Staub. The Cubs won both games, 5-0 and 4-1, respectively.

A LOOK AT 1984

The road to the top certainly wasn't easy.

When the Cubs departed Mesa, Arizona on April Fool's Day they lugged with them to the West Coast a 7-20 spring training exhibition record. Included in that mark was an 11-game losing streak as the Cubs lost 18 of their first 21 Cactus League games. Not only was this the worst record among the major league teams which train in Arizona, but natives of the area couldn't remember a ballclub (Cubs or otherwise) ever losing 20 or more games in the spring.

"It ain't pretty," said new Cubs manager Jim Frey to the press after the final day in camp, "but at least tomorrow we're back to being even."

That's the beauty of losing games which don't count.

The 1984 Cubs squad was ready when it DID COUNT. Once the getting-to-know-you period was over, once general manager Dallas Green had made two big trades at the end of camp (getting Tim Lincecum from Oakland and Gary Matthews and Bobby Dernier from Philadelphia), things began to fall into place for Jim Frey's club.

Boy, did they!

And who would have thought the 7-20 Cubs of 1984 spring training would go on to become the darlings of the baseball world in 1984, the Cub team that finally got the North Siders into post-season play for the first time since 1945.

Following is a closer look at the 1984 campaign, a month-by-month accounting of THE ROAD TO VICTORY:

APRIL (12-8)

The Cubs opened their season on the West Coast for the first time since 1966 and got off to a 3-4 start. They went 2-0 in San Francisco, the first leg of the three-city California trip.

Dick Ruthven, who would later undergo shoulder surgery in May, pitched the season opener at Candlestick Park in front of 52,700 fans, going 7.1 innings for the 5-3 win. Keith Moreland and Ron Cey each got a home run as the Cubs pounded out 12 hits.

Indications that this Cubs team could hit would be in evidence two days later when the Cubs completed the sweep of the Giants, beating them 11-7 on 13 hits. The Cubs "Boy Wonder", Ryne Sandberg, had the first of many big days in 1984 by going 3-for-5 with 4 RBI and a home run.

The Cubs' home opener on Friday the 13th proved to be a lucky one for lefty Steve Trout, who went the distance for one of his two complete games in April. Trout held off the New York Mets, 11-2, as the Cubs collected 14 hits. The victory kicked off a successful homestand which saw the Cubs go 5-2 and improve their record to 8-8. It was their best start since the 1980 season.

The homestand triggered a successful road trip to St. Louis, Pittsburgh and New York. The Cubs beat the Cardinals two out of three games and turned the same trick on the Pirates to conclude the month at 12-8. Newcomer Scott Sanderson got two of the wins, including a 7-1 complete game effort over the Bucs on April 28. It was a 2-hitter for the righthanded Sanderson, a Chicago native who had been acquired from Montreal in the off season in a three-team trade.

Richie Hebner's pinch-hit homer off Bruce Sutter on April 24 enabled the Cubs to win 3-2. The ninth inning blow was the first of many late inning heroics pulled off by the '84 Cubs.

Steve Trout ended April with a 2-1 win over John Candelaria and Pittsburgh. That left Trout at 3-1 for the month.

INDIVIDUAL HIGHLIGHTS IN APRIL

PITCHING: The staff ERA was 3.22, including 3 complete games. Reliever Tim Stoddard was 2-0 with a 1.80 ERA. Starters Scott Sanderson (3-1, 1.91 ERA) and Steve Trout (3-1, 2.38 ERA) led the way.

HITTING: Gary Matthews hit .399 and had 3 game-winning RBI; Jody Davis batted .308 and led the team with 15 RBI; Ron Cey had 4 homers and 13 RBI; Ryne Sandberg had 14 RBI with 2 homers and tied Matthews for the club lead in hits with 21. Ryne batted .259. Matthews also had an on-base percentage of .469, including 17 walks in 19 games.

THE RECORD: Vs. S.F. (2-0); Vs. S.D. (1-2); Vs. L.A. (0-2); Vs. N.Y. (2-0); Vs. STL. (4-2); Vs. PGH (3-2).

MAY (15-12)

The Cubs went 11-5 at home during the month, including a stretch where they went 11-2. By the end of May they had gone from four games over .500 to seven games (27-20) over.

The Cubs went into first place in the National League East on May 9 after Scott Sanderson's 7-0 win over Los Angeles at Wrigley Field. They were in first place—or at least shared the top spot in the East—for all of four days between May 7-May 31.

From May 15 until May 31 they were in first place, with their largest lead being two games.

May was a month which found the Cubs pitching staff somewhat crippled as two key members—Scott Sanderson and Dick Ruthven—went down with injuries. Sanderson injured his back on May 9 and pitched only 3.1 innings the remainder of the month before going on the disabled list on June 1. Ruthven, who had gotten off to a 2-0 start in April, underwent surgery for a blocked artery in his right shoulder on May 20 and would not return to the active roster until mid-July. He had lost five straight games prior to the operation.

It was also a month which saw veteran righthander Rick Reuschel come to the rescue to win two games and lose a 3-hit (1-0) game to the Astros in Houston. Rich Bordi also became a key figure, picking up a victory and two saves. Bordi compiled a 2.08 ERA for 21.2 innings of work in May.

Chuck Rainey and Dickie Noles, two hurlers who would be traded in July, each posted two wins and Tim Stoddard had a victory and two saves out of the bullpen. Lee Smith had two wins and four saves. In other words, everyone on the staff pitched in to help out.

The club continued to show that they could compete on the road, something Cub teams of the 1970s and the 1980s had not done very well. In 1983, for instance, the Cubs were only 28-53 in road games.

In May, the Cubs went 3-3 on a six-game trip to Houston and Cincinnati, then split two games in Atlanta at the end of the month. Those games began a big road swing to the East coast (Philadelphia and Montreal) and a return to St. Louis.

The Cubs won six 1-run games in May, another sign that the 1984 team would be different from other Cub teams. The Cubs of old didn't win the 1-run games; they didn't win the extra inning contests; they didn't win on the road and they didn't win on artificial surfaces. In 1984, the Cubs did.

May would also be the month in which the Cubs traded the popular Bill Buckner to the Boston Red Sox in exchange for righthanded veteran pitcher Dennis Eckersley and a minor league outfielder (Mike Brumley). Eckersley made his Cubs debut on May 27 and pitched a complete game, but lost 4-3 to Cincinnati at Wrigley Field.

By May 25 the Cubs had compiled a 16-4 home record, the best home start ever at Wrigley Field and the best home start by the franchise since the 1907 club went 18-4 at West Side Grounds.

On the hitting front, Leon Durham was named N.L. Player of the Month, hitting .351 for May with nine homers and 34 RBI, plus seven stolen bases. By the end of May the "Bull" had 11 home runs and 41 RBI and was batting .325.

The Cub's "Daily Double" combination of centerfielder Bobby Dernier and second baseman Ryne Sandberg had come into their own. By the end of May Dernier was batting .325 in the leadoff role and Sandberg was hitting .321 batting in the number two slot in the batting order. Pinch-hitter Richie Hebner was at .464, Jody Davis .299 and Gary Matthews .285.

INDIVIDUAL HIGHLIGHTS IN MAY

PITCHING: The staff was led by Rich Bordi (1-0, 2 saves, 2.08 ERA), Tim Stodard (1-0, 2 saves, 2.81 ERA) and Steve Trout (3-2, 2.18 ERA).

HITTING: Bobby Dernier hit .344 with 15 stolen bases. Larry Bowa batted .250. Ron Cey had 4 homers and 19 RBI in 27 games. Jody Davis hit .293 with 7 homers and 18 RBI. Leon Durham led the club with a .351 mark, along with 9 homers, 34 RBI and 7 SB. Ryne Sandberg batted .373 with 16 RBI and 6 SB. As a team, the club was hitting .277 by the end of May, the second best mark in the N.L. The Cubs led the league in RBI and hits and were second to Philadelphia in home runs.

THE RECORD: Vs. N.Y. (0-2); Vs. S.D. (2-1); Vs. S.F. (2-0); Vs. L.A. (1-1); Vs. HOU (4-2); Vs. CIN (2-4); Vs. ATL (4-1); Vs. PHL (0-1).

JUNE (15-14)

June will be remembered as the month the Cubs became "legitimate" contenders for the N.L. East title.

Although the final record was only one over .500 for the month, the Cubs managed an 8-7 mark on the road, including a four-city trip early in the month which actually began in the final days of May in Atlanta. They went 6-6 on a swing to Atlanta, Philadelphia, Montreal and St. Louis.

The Cubs won two of four games at Philly's Veterans Stadium, a ballyard which had been somewhat of an albatross to them in recent seasons. On June 1 they downed the Phils 12-3, bouncing back from a 10-2 blasting the night before. Ryne Sandberg, Richie Hebner and Leon Durham each collected three hits in the win.

Two days later, after losing on national television (Mike Schmidt's big home run off Lee Smith), the Cubs came back to pound the Phillies 11-2. Again it was Durham getting three hits to support the strong pitching of Steve Trout, who improved his record to 7-3.

After the Cubs went 1 and 2 in Montreal, the club took the final two games of a three-game series in St. Louis. Rich Bordi combined with Lee Smith to shutout the Cards (5-0) on June 9 and Chuck Rainey combined with Smith the next day to blank the Redbirds (2-0). Then the Cubs returned to the Friendly Confines and beat Montreal two of three games, with Dennis Eckersley notching his first win as a Cub, an 11-4 win over the Expos on June 12.

Next came the Phillies. . . and the Cubs looked horrible. In fact, when the Phils left town with four straight wins many Cubs critics were beginning to say "I told you so".

Chicago was never really in any of the games against Philadelphia. They were outscored 33-13. After the four-game sweep, the Cubs' record stood at 34-29. The Cubs were now in third place, two games off the lead. When the Cubs lost two of three games in Pittsburgh, they returned home to face arch-rival St. Louis.

They needed some wins badly.

And they got them. The 1984 Cubs seemed to rise to the occasion countless times when people began counting them out. Here was a classic example: In the three-game series with the Cards, the Cubs won 9-3, 12-11 (in 11 innings) and 5-0. Each game had its memorable moments, with Rick Reuschel winning the first game to improve his record to 4-3.

That set up the Ryne Sandberg Show.

The Cubs All-Star second baseman, who would win N.L. monthly honors for June, put on a late-game batting display on June 23 that ranked among the greatest games ever played at Wrigley Field. . . maybe anywhere.

The June 23 game was on national television and much of the audience must have been asleep as the Cards cruised to a 7-0 lead after only two innings. The Cubs, however, battled back, scoring twice in the sixth to cut the Cardinals lead to 9-8. It was a lead the Cards held going into the bottom of the ninth.

Sandberg led off that inning with a line drive homer into the leftfield bleachers off ace reliever Bruce Sutter, the ex-Cub. After the Cards scored two runs in the 10th, Sandberg hit a two-run, two-out homer—again off Sutter—to tie the game at 11-11. Sandberg became the only player to hit two homers off Sutter in one game. The Cubs won the game in the 11th inning on Dave Owen's bases-loaded single. Unbelievable!

For the afternoon, Sandberg had gone 5-for-6 with 7 RBI and 2 homers. St. Louis manager Whitey Herzog paid tribute to Sandberg, calling him "the best player I've EVER seen."

In the finale on Sunday, Rick Sutcliffe also made a big impression.

Sutcliffe had come to the Cubs earlier in June in a controversial seven-player trade with the Cleveland Indians, a trade which saw reliever George Frazier and catcher Ron Hassey come to Chicago for Mel Hall and three minor leaguers. It was a move which not only strengthened the Cubs starting pitching, but one which allowed Keith Moreland to play everyday in rightfield.

On June 24, Sutcliffe struck out 14 Cardinals in winning his second game as a Cub. It would be the first of many "big" games for Sutcliffe.

Sandberg and Moreland had a strong June, as did Jody Davis, to help overcome the loss of Leon Durham to a hamstring injury on June 23. Durham would remain on the disabled list until after the All-Star game.

Following the sweep of St. Louis, the Cubs were 38-31, only a half game off the lead. They stumbled briefly against Pittsburgh before winning the final two games to earn a split of their four-game series.

Then came the crucial 11-game West Coast trip. They didn't normally label road trips in late June as "crucial" but most Cub fans remember how the 1983 team stumbled in early July on the West Coast and never was the same thereafter. Would the same thing happen to the 1984 team?

First came Los Angeles. Steve Trout got the Cubs off to a quick start by downing the Dodgers, 5-3, on June 28. Then two days later George Frazier came on in relief and got the win as Chicago scored seven times in the ninth inning of a 14-4 win over L.A. At the close of the month, on June 30, the Cubs found themselves in a first place tie with Philadelphia. Chicago's record was 42-34.

INDIVIDUAL HIGHLIGHTS IN JUNE

PITCHING: Lee Smith (6 saves, 1-2 record); Tim Stoddard (2 saves, 2-0 record, 3.10 ERA); Rick Sutcliffe (2-1, 2.57 ERA); Steve Trout (2-0); Rick Reuschel (2-2); Chuck Rainey (2-3).

HITTING: Jody Davis (.286, 5 homers, 22 RBI); Jay Johnstone (.375, 12-for-32); Gary Matthews (.253, 15 RBI); Keith Moreland (.277, 4 homers, 15 RBI); Ryne Sandberg (.376, 8 homers, 21 RBI, 47 hits, 6 stolen bases).

THE RECORD: Vs. PHL (2-5); Vs. MTL (3-3); Vs. STL (5-1); Vs. PGH (3-4); Vs. L.A. (2-1).

JULY (18-10)

July proved to be the most productive month for the ballclub even though the Cubs fell out of first place shortly before the All-Star break. Chicago won 18 of 28 games and an 8-3 mark on the West Coast trip triggered much of the success.

In fact, many consider the successful West Coast road trip as the turning point for the 1984 Cubs team. Chicago took three of its four games in San Diego and three of four in San Francisco. The Dodgers series was worth noting. It was the first time since 1971 that a Cubs team had won three games in one series in Los Angeles.

Ryne Sandberg, certainly a strong candidate for N.L. Most Valuable Player Award, had a big part in the Dodgers series. Sandberg went 11-for-18 in the four games, batting .611.

The Cubs remained on top of the Eastern Division until July 7 when they lost to San Francisco, enabling the New York Mets to go in front by a half-game. Despite winning their final game before the All-Star break, the Cubs remained a half-game back of the Mets.

Still, the Cubs had the satisfaction of knowing that they would not have to play on the West Coast again in 1984, while their two principal challengers, the Phillies and the Mets, each had a trip remaining in late August. The 8-3 record on the coast was the best mark by a Cubs team since the National League expanded in 1969, adding on the Padres.

Overall, the Cubs finished 11-7 in the 18 games they played in the three California cities in 1984.

There were other pluses in July. Scott Sanderson returned and defeated the Giants on July 5, his first win since May 9. Rick Sutcliffe stepped into the role as staff stopper, posting a 5-0 record and winning two of those games on the California trip. By the end of July, Sutcliffe was 7-1.

Dennis Eckersley also emerged in July, going 4-1 for the month. Sanderson had two wins and so did Steve Trout. Also encouraging were the performances turned in by Dick Ruthven. The righthander didn't win any games but pitched well enough in two contests to win. He lost to the Mets and Dwight Gooden, 2-1, and also to San Diego, 4-0.

So, heading into the homestretch, pitching coach Billy Connors had a set rotation: Sutcliffe, Trout, Eckersley, Sanderson and Ruthven.

Ruthven's one-run loss to the Mets and Gooden on July 27 was a turning point of sorts for the '84 Cubs. The Cubs had taken two of three games in Philadelphia heading into the big series with the Mets in Shea Stadium, part of a seven game road trip. In Philly, Sutcliffe had won the opening game, 3-2, thanks to a key homer by Ron Cey, the gutty third baseman who had been nursing a bad wrist since late June. Eckersley won the final game of the Philly series, 9-4, on July 25 to put the Cubs 3½ games behind the Mets coming into New York.

It was 4½ games after Dwight Gooden finished them off but the Cubs once again rebounded. Things really appeared bleak in Game Two of the series on Saturday after the Cubs had blown a 3-0 lead, the Mets tying the game on a Bobby Dernier error in the seventh inning. Chicago, however, responded with an 8-run eighth inning and went on to win, 11-4. On Sunday, in the first game of a doubleheader, Steve Trout tosses a 7-hit shutout, winning 3-0. Scott Sanderson followed in the nightcap, going 7.2 innings and allowing five hits enroute to a 5-1 victory.

They were right back in the thick of the hunt.

The Cubs returned to Wrigley Field. The Phillies were waiting. Chicago finished the month by splitting the first two games of its three-game series with Philadelphia to pull to within a half-game of the Mets. Chicago stood at 60-44, only 11 games under their ENTIRE victory total of 1983 (71-91).

INDIVIDUAL HIGHLIGHTS IN JULY

PITCHING: Dennis Eckersley (4-1, 2.40 ERA); Rick Sutcliffe (5-0, 2.45 ERA); Steve Trout (2-2, 3.98 ERA); Scott Sanderson (2-1, 4.18 ERA); Tim Lincecum (2-2 with 2 saves, 2.60 ERA); Lee Smith (1-0, 7 saves, 1.96 ERA); Rich Bordi (1-0, 1 save, 2.00 ERA); George Frazier (2-0, 1.55 ERA); Dick Ruthven (0-2, 2.53 ERA). The team ERA was 3.15.

HITTING: Jody Davis (2 homers, 11 RBI); Bobby Dernier (.318); Leon Durlham (.254, 2 homers, 8 RBI); Gary Matthews (.318, 3 homers, 18 RBI, 3 GWH); Keith Moreland (.257, 4 homers, 16 RBI); Ryne Sandberg (.292, 3 homers, 13 RBI).

THE RECORD: Vs. L.A. (4-1); Vs. S.D. (3-3); Vs. S.F. (5-3); Vs. PHL (3-2); Vs. N.Y. (3-1).

AUGUST (20-10)

The Cubs had their best month of 1984 in August and went from one-half game behind the New York Mets at the start of the month to 5½ games in front by the end of August.

Chicago got off to a quick start, winning eight of its first nine games during the month—all at Wrigley Field, where they had the best home record in the National League. After downing Philadelphia, 5-4, on August 1, the Cubs proceeded to take three of four games against Montreal. That set up a dramatic four-game sweep against the Mets which propelled them into a 4½ game lead.

The Cubs got a break in their August 2 game against Montreal when Pete Rose, in his final days as an Expo, lined a hard shot back through the middle which appeared to be headed into centerfield. At the time in the 9th inning, the Cubs were holding onto a 3-2 lead with one out and Expo runners on first and third base. Then the Cubs got a BIG break. Rose's ball caromed off the shoulder of Lee Smith and went directly to shortstop Dave Owen, who threw to first base for the game-ending double play.

It would be that kind of month!

New York was only a half game behind the Cubs when they arrived in Chicago for four games in three days beginning on August 6. They had their rookie ace, Dwight Gooden, ready for Game 1. But the Cubs responded by slugging 6 doubles and used four RBI by Jody Davis (#17 home run) to down the Mets, 9-3, behind Dick Ruthven.

The Cubs used a 6-run, 5th inning the next day to help Rick Sutcliffe get his 9th victory, 8-6. In the second game of the doubleheader, the Cubs used three RBI by Ron Cey, including a 2-run double in the 5th inning, to beat Ed Lynch as Tim Stoddard picked up the win and Lee Smith got the save. The Cubs finished off the Mets the next day, using a 4-run, 7th inning to erase a 5-2 Mets lead enroute to a 7-6 win. Keith Moreland had 4 RBI in this game as the Cubs bullpen aces, Smith and Stoddard, got credit for the win and save.

Leading the East by 4½ games, the Cubs went on the road for 10 games and salvaged a 4-6 mark. After splitting four games in Montreal, the Houston Astros swept a three game series from them in the Astrodome, a House of Horrors all season for the Cubs (1-5 mark). The first two games of the Houston series were one-run defeats. On the morning of August 16, the Cubs lead had been cut to 2½ games. It didn't get better because Pete Rose was now in Cincinnati as the playing-manager and he was set to make his debut on August 17.

The Cubs seemed to be walking into a furnace.

Rose lit a fire under his club the first night but the Cubs bounced back to win the next two days, a familiar trait of this ballclub all season. On August 18 they scored seven runs in the first inning, then hung on for a 13-11 win that featured a wild finish in the 9th inning. On Sunday, pinch-hitter Thad Bosley hit a dramatic 3-run homer to give the Cubs the lead in a game they eventually won, 9-6.

So the Cubs came back home three games in front of New York. Somehow they had survived the road trip. The Friendly Confines was just what they needed. The Cubs took the first two games of their series against Houston—a different club outside the Dome—and went on to win 7 of the 9 games on the homestand. They took two of three from Atlanta and limited Cincinnati to 4 runs in three games as they swept the Reds.

On August 29 the Cubs left for a crucial road trip—their last big trip of the '84 season—with a 5½ game lead over the Mets. In the first game in Atlanta, Thad Bosley again came to the rescue. With Atlanta holding a 3-2 lead in the 9th, Bosley hit a 1-out solo homer off Gene Barber to tie the game. Chicago scored five times in the 10th to win, 8-3.

By the end of the month, the Cubs had an 80-54 record, the best in the National League. They still led the Mets by 5½ games. Yes, it had been a big month for a club which had started August a half-game behind the Mets.

INDIVIDUAL HIGHLIGHTS IN AUGUST

PITCHING: The staff ERA dropped from 3.86 to 3.77 during the month. Rick Sutcliffe was named N.L. Pitcher of the Month with a 6-0 mark and 3.52 ERA. Lee Smith was 4-1 with 4 saves and a 2.20 ERA. Dennis Eckersley (3-1, 3.25 ERA) and Steve Trout (2-0, 3.51 ERA) also had strong months.

HITTING: Gary Matthews (.316, 31-98), Ryne Sandberg (.366, 4 HR, 9 RBI) and Henry Gotto (.327 with a 16-game hitting streak) all had excellent months. But the big bats in August really belonged to Ron Cey (.309, 9 HR, 28 RBI) and Keith Moreland (.360, 5 HR, 29 RBI). Moreland had 8 game-winning hits this month. Leon Durham also came on strong at the finish of the month and ended with 6 HR and 18 RBI.

THE RECORD: Vs. PHL (1-0); Vs. MTL (5-3); Vs. N.Y. (4-0); Vs. HOU (2-4); Vs. CIN (5-1); Vs. ATL (3-2).

SEPTEMBER (16-11)

This time, the Cubs wouldn't let the Mets catch them. The media talked often about the ghosts of 1969—in fact, so did the Mets—but in 1984 the ghosts were put to rest for good. The Cubs began the month with a 5½ game lead and by mid-September were 9½ in front of New York.

After New York lost the first game of a three-game series at Wrigley Field, falling 8½ back with 15 games to go on the Cubs calendar, New York's Hubie Brooks was resigned to his club's eventual fate.

"It's not like we haven't played well this season," commented Brooks, "but if we go out and win 10 of 13, the Cubs go out and win 10 of 13. The bottom line was that we just weren't able to handle the Cubs head-to-head."

The Mets weren't the only ones. By mid-September, the Cubs held a 10-7 edge over Montreal and a 9-3 advantage against St. Louis. Against the defending N.L. champion Philadelphia Phillies the Cubs went 9-9, including a 6-3 edge at Veterans Stadium.

Over in the Western Division, Chicago finished 9-3 against Atlanta and San Francisco. They went 7-5 against Los Angeles and Cincinnati and split their 12-game series with Houston and San Diego. Overall against the West the Cubs were 44-28 (.611).

In becoming the first Cubs team since 1969 to win 90 or more games (the '69 team went 92-70), the club broke the park's all-time attendance record (set in 1969) enroute to a 2 million plus final count.

On September 15, the Cubs had led their division since August 1 and had played to a 62-38 record since June 1, the best mark in all of baseball.

Yes, it was quite a season, collectively and individually. While Rick Sutcliffe was setting all sorts of club pitching records, the offensive combo of Ryne Sandberg, Gary Matthews, Jody Davis, Leon Durham, Keith Moreland and Ron Cey showed exceptional balance as they all drove in 80 or more runs. The last time a Cubs team had four players with 80 or more RBI was in 1961 when George Altman (96), Billy Williams (86) and Ernie Banks (80) turned the feat.

Banks himself was on hand for the grand finish in September, watching the Cubs against the Mets at Wrigley Field. Though he now resides in California, the man they call "Mr. Cub" looked as thrilled about the Cubs of 1984 as if he had been a playing member.

"They say if you wait long enough," said the Hall of Famer, "that good things will eventually happen to you. Well, my ship has now come in."

INDIVIDUAL HIGHLIGHTS IN SEPTEMBER

PITCHING: Sutcliffe led the way with a 3-0 mark and 2.08 ERA and pitched the division-clinching game in Pittsburgh on September 24; Scott Sanderson had a 2-1 record and 1.76 ERA and Dennis Eckersley had a 2-1 mark with a 2.03 ERA. Dick Ruthven added 2 wins and Lee Smith notched 7 saves. The Cubs finished with a team ERA of 3.75, the lowest by a Cubs staff since the 1973 unit had a 3.66 ERA. Also, the 19 complete games turned in by the Cubs staff was their most since 1979 (20). Finally, the 99 homers allowed by Cubs pitchers were the fewest since 1953.

HITTING: Overall the Cubs had their worst hitting month of the season, batting just .229 as a team. Gary Matthews, however, continued his late season surge, batting .286 with 5 homers and 21 RBI to pace the club. Team captain Larry Bowa had his best month at the plate, batting .274. Ron Cey slammed 2 homers, batted .256 and drove in 13 runs. The Cubs finished by stealing 154 bases, the most by a Cubs team since the 1923 team swiped 181. The Cubs also led the league in runs scored (762) and averaged 4.73 runs a game, the most by a Cubs team since 1970.

THE RECORD: Vs. ATL (2-0); Vs. PHL (3-1); Vs. MTL (2-1); Vs. NY (3-3); Vs. PGH (2-4); Vs. STL (4-2)

JIM FREY

MANAGER

James Gottfried Frey was born in Cleveland, OH on May 26, 1931. He and his wife Joan have four children, Jim, Cindy, Mary and Jennifer, and they reside in Timonium, MD during the off-season.

When Jim Frey took on the assignment as the 41st manager in Chicago Cubs history in October of 1983, he was asked to comment about his expectations for the 1984 season. How many games was he going to win? That was the bottom line.

"I don't know how many games we'll win," he said to his questioner. "We might win 80 games, we might win more. But I do know one thing: Jim Frey is not afraid to win."

It was that kind of positive attitude which Frey brought to the '84 Cubs, a team that went on to capture the hearts of millions of fans around the country, not to mention Chicago. Not only did the Cubs win 96 games, more than any Cubs team since 1945, but they also won the National League Eastern Division title, ending a post-season drought of 39 years for the franchise.

Last winter Frey was recognized for this achievement by his peers. No less than five organizations honored him as their National League Manager of the Year. Those organizations were the Baseball Writers Association of America, The Sporting News, Associated Press, United Press International and ESPN-TV.

Although Frey could not say exactly what his presence as manager meant to the 1984 Cubs, he spoke of what he attempted to do. "I tried as hard as I could to give the players every opportunity to individually succeed, because that's what they have to do to win. I tried to create an atmosphere where they weren't worried about Jim Frey. They were only worried about playing hard, every day."

Frey was named Cubs manager on October 6, 1983 when interim manager Charlie Fox returned to the Cubs front office. It marked Frey's first experience as a major league manager in the National League after having served as the pilot of the Kansas City Royals in 1980 and part of 1981. Jim directed the Royals to the 1980 American League pennant, then lost a six-game World Series to Philadelphia and then manager Dallas Green, now his boss in Chicago. The Royals had a 97-65 record in 1980. Frey had a 30-40 mark with Kansas City in 1981 when he was replaced, including a 10-10 record in the second half of the strike-shortened season. K.C. was only one-half game out of first place in the second half when Frey was replaced by Dick Howser on August 31. He was the American League manager in the 1981 All-Star Game.

Prior to his first major league managerial opportunity in Kansas City, Frey spent 15 years in the Baltimore Oriole system, beginning in 1964 after retiring as an active player. He stayed with the O's until leaving for the K.C. job after the 1979 season. Frey was hired by former New York Mets manager George Bamberger as the Mets batting coach in 1982 and continued those duties, plus coaching first base in New York during 1983. Frey and Bamberger, now manager of the Milwaukee Brewers, coached together in Baltimore.

Although he played professional baseball as an outfielder for 14 seasons, Frey never made it to the big leagues despite a lifetime batting average of .302. Frey won two batting titles in the minor leagues, in 1957 while playing in the Texas League, and in 1960 while in the International League. He was the Texas League's MVP in '57, leading the circuit in seven offensive categories. Frey attended Ohio State University and was originally signed by the Paducah, KY team of the Mississippi-Ohio Valley League in 1950. Frey's best season in the minors was in '57 when he batted .336 for Tulsa, leading the league in runs (102), hits (198), doubles (50) and triples (11).

Prior to his coaching stint with Baltimore, where he served as a hitting instructor for 10 seasons, bullpen coach (1970-75) and first base coach (1976-79), Frey scouted for the Orioles from 1966-69. He managed the club's rookie league team in Bluefield, WVA in 1964-65.

In Chicago, Frey was reunited with Billy Connors, who served as his pitching coach in Kansas City. Frey also hired Don Zimmer to coach third base last season. Zimmer was a schoolboy chum of Frey's. The two began playing sandlot baseball in the Cincinnati area at age 13 and played on the same high school and American Legion teams as teenagers. At Western Hill High School (graduate, 1949), Frey played first base and pitched while Zimmer played shortstop. Frey and Zimmer are just two of the Western Hills alumni who later played in the Major Leagues. Others include Pete Rose, Eddie Brinkman, Russ Nixon, Dick Drott, Herm Wehmeier and Art Mahaffey.

Jim enjoys golf in the off-season and is also an avid reader of history books, particularly those concerning World War II and the Civil War. He was also a participant on the Cubs Winter Caravan in January for the second consecutive year.

COACHING STAFF

RUBEN AMARO

Ruben Amaro (Mora) was born in Monterrey, Nuevo Leon, Mexico on January 7, 1936. He and his wife Judy have two children, David and Ruben, and reside in Philadelphia, PA during the off-season.

Ruben will begin his third season as a member of the Cubs coaching staff in 1985. Last season he assisted manager Jim Frey in the dugout and will continue that responsibility this year. In his first season with the Cubs he was the team's third base coach.

Prior to coming to the Cubs, Amaro was the first base coach of the Philadelphia Phillies in 1980 and 1981, both seasons under Phillies manager Dallas Green, now President and General Manager of the Cubs. He was a scout for Philadelphia in the mid-1970s as well as being in charge of the organization's Latin American Affairs department.

During the winter months, Ruben has served as the manager and general manager of the Zulia Eagles of Maracaibo in the Venezuelan League. During the winter of 1983-84, Ruben guided Zulia to the Venezuelan League title and also to the Caribbean World Series championship when Zulia defeated defending champion Puerto Rico.

Ruben played several positions during his minor and major league career but was primarily regarded as a shortstop. Signed by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1954, Amaro first made it to the big leagues in 1958 with the Cards. Later that season he was traded to the Phillies and played in their farm system until making the major league team in 1960. He played six consecutive seasons in Philadelphia, hitting a major league career-high in 1964 with a .264 average. That same season he also won a N.L. Gold Glove for his shortstop work in 129 games.

Amaro later played for the New York Yankees (1966-68) and California Angels (1969), his last season in the major leagues. He retired as an active player in 1972 to join Philadelphia as a scout. His career major league batting average was .234.

Amaro caught the eye of Philadelphia's management in 1959 while at Buffalo, where he led the International League shortstops in double plays with 84. In addition to his experience as a player, scout and coach, Amaro also managed the Phillies Auburn farm club in the New York-Penn League in 1977.

Ruben's oldest son David was drafted by the Cubs and played for the organization's Geneva (A) team in the New York-Penn League last season. His younger son, Ruben, Jr., is a student and baseball player at Stanford University.

BILLY CONNORS

William Joseph Connors III was born in Schenectady, NY on November 2, 1941. He is single and resides in St. Petersburg, FL during the off-season.

Billy Connors will be in his fourth season as the Cubs pitching coach. Connors has been credited with much of the development in the careers of pitchers Steve Trout and Lee Smith. His reputation as an outstanding pitching coach continues to grow throughout baseball. The 3.75 earned run average compiled by the 1984 club was the lowest by a Cubs staff since 1973 (3.66). The Cubs led the league in the fewest number of walks allowed (442).

Nearly half of the pitchers Connors has coached while with the Cubs have had their best major league season in terms of either wins, ERA or saves.

Trout, for example, was 13-7 last season with a 3.41 ERA and six complete games. It was Trout's most successful season in his six-year big league career.

Smith has developed into one of the game's top relievers in the last three seasons. He has recorded 79 saves since July, 1982. He had a career-high 33 in 1984 after leading the league with 29 in 1983.

Prior to joining the Cubs staff in 1982, Connors was credited with developing a staff that carried the Kansas City Royals to the American League Championship in 1980 under manager Jim Frey. Before coaching at Kansas City, Billy spent five years coaching in the New York Mets' organization and three in the Philadelphia Phillies system.

Connors began his major league career in 1966 when he pitched in 11 games under Cubs manager Leo Durocher (0-1 record). He also made brief appearances with the Mets in 1967 (six games) and 1968 (nine games). His lifetime M.L. record was 0-2.

Billy began his professional career in the Cubs farm system as an infielder-pitcher. In 1962 he also added catching and outfielding to increase his versatility but finally settled on pitching in 1963. That season for Wenatchee of the Northwest League he was 12-11 and was 7th in league ERA with a 3.22 mark. His 2.60 ERA with Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League in 1966 was the fourth best mark in that loop. Prior to his pro career, Connors was a two-sport standout at Syracuse University. He captained the freshman basketball team and in his sophomore season helped the Orangemen baseball team to a NCAA district title and a third place finish in the College World Series.

Connors was Player of the Year in 1959 at Linton High School in Schenectady, NY in both basketball and baseball. Billy pitched the semifinal games in the 1953 and 1954 Little League World Series in Williamsport, PA. He won both games for Schenectady. After losing the 1953 championship game, 1-0, Schenectady won the title in 1954 with a 7-5 victory over the Colton, CA. team that included the late Cubs infielder Kenny Hubbs.

His hobbies include racquetball and golf. Billy also trains his pet parrot, "Lucy", in the winter months.

JOHNNY OATES

Johnny Lane Oates was born in Sylva, NC on January 21, 1946. He and his wife Gloria and their three children, Lori, Andy and Jenny reside in Colonial Heights, VA during the off-season.

Johnny Oates will be starting his second season as the Cubs bullpen coach. Last season Oates worked extensively with the Cubs catchers and was instrumental in the improvement of Jody Davis' defensive skills.

Prior to joining Jim Frey's staff last season, he managed two seasons in the New York Yankees farm system. In 1983, he managed the Yankees top farm club at Columbus (AAA) of the International League into the playoffs with an 83-57 record. The Clippers were beaten in the league finals by Tidewater, the eventual Triple A champions. Oates managed Cub newcomers Ray Fontenot and Brian Dayett at Columbus and Nashville.

In 1982, his first season as a professional manager, Oates directed the Nashville Sounds (AA) of the Southern League into post-season play. Oates had taken a job in the Yankees farm system following his retirement from baseball at the end of the '81 season. He spent his final two years as a player in New York.

Oates, a respected defensive catcher throughout his career, broke in with the Baltimore Orioles organization. He was drafted on the first round of the 1967 free agent draft, secondary phase, and played three and a half seasons of minor league ball before making his M.L. debut with the Orioles in the final weeks of the 1970 season. Oates originally had been drafted by the Chicago White Sox in June of 1966.

Oates' first full season in the big leagues was in 1972 with Baltimore. He was traded to Atlanta after that season, where he received the majority of his M.L. playing time. After that, Oates also played for the Philadelphia Phillies in part of 1975 and all of 1976, then spent three seasons with the Los Angeles Dodgers before concluding his career with the Yanks. He finished with a lifetime batting average of .250.

Oates played in one N.L. Championship Series, in 1976 with the Phillies, and appeared in two World Series as a member of the Dodgers, 1977 and 1978. He singled in his only at-bat in the '78 Series.

During his playing career, Oates played on only one second division team—the 1973 Atlanta Braves. There are three members on the 1984 Cubs team who are former teammates: Larry Bowa, Davey Lopes and Ron Cey. Oates credits his knowledge of catching to Jeff Torborg, but also praises former Yankee catchers and coaches Yogi Berra, Jim Hegan and Charlie Lau. Johnny attended Virginia Tech ('68) and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Health and Physical Education. Hobbies include golf and bowling.

JOHN VUKOVICH

John Christopher Vukovich was born in Sacramento, CA on July 31, 1947. He and his wife Bonnie have two children, Nicole and Vincent, and reside in Pine Hill, NJ during the off-season.

John Vukovich is in his fourth season as a major league coach and as a Cubs coach. John returned to the first base coaching position last season after spending the 1983 season assisting managers Lee Elia and Charlie Fox in the dugout. John coached first base in 1982, his first year as a major league coach. Besides coaching first, John works extensively with Cub infielders and hitters.

"Vuk" was a member of the 1980 championship club in Philadelphia and also played for Dallas Green in 1981. He was regarded as an excellent third baseman during his career, playing in parts of 10 seasons in the big leagues. John was drafted by the Phillies in 1966 and spent parts of the '70, '71, '76 and '79 seasons with Philadelphia. Vuk was also a member of the Milwaukee Brewers in 1973-74 and began the 1975 season with the Cincinnati Reds. He was the starting third baseman that season for the Reds.

All told, Vukovich played on two major league teams which won championships (Cincinnati in 1975 and Philadelphia in 1980) and four other clubs which won division titles. He was also a member of three league champions in the minor leagues—Spartanburg ('67), Eugene ('72) and Oklahoma City ('79). He had his best overall offensive year in 1979 for the Oklahoma City 89ers, batting .291 in 101 games. He also hit 12 homers for Eugene with 96 RBI in 1970.

Vuk attended the American River College in Sacramento where he earned an Associates Arts degree in physical education. John played baseball, basketball and football at Amador County High School in Sutter Creek, CA, and he led his high school league in fielding four consecutive seasons. Vuk played American Legion ball in 1964 and 1965 and played amateur ball with shortstop Larry Bowa. John hit six homers in his M.L. career with his only N.L. homer coming off Jerry Koosman in 1976. His other five homers came with Milwaukee. Vukovich was part of a seven-player deal between Milwaukee and Philadelphia in 1972. John's off-season hobbies include hunting and fishing.

DON ZIMMER

Donald William Zimmer was born in Cincinnati, OH on January 17, 1931. He and his wife Jean have two children, Thomas and Donna, and reside in Treasure Island, FL during the off-season.

Don Zimmer is in his second season as the Cubs third base coach since coming over from his coaching position with the New York Yankees following the 1983 season.

Considered one of the top baseball field people in the business, Zimmer is a former Cub player (1960-1961). He played 12 seasons in the major leagues, mostly at third base. During his professional career, he played every position on the field.

Zimmer has had nine years of experience managing in the major leagues, starting in San Diego (1972 – 73). He also spent five seasons at the helm of the Boston Red Sox (1976-1980) and two seasons with the Texas Rangers (1981-82). He has a 620-600 lifetime record in the majors as a manager with two second-place and two third-place finishes, all in Boston. Prior to his five-year stint with the Red Sox, Don served Boston for two and a half years as its third base coach. He replaced Darrell Johnson on July 19, 1976.

Zimmer, who grew up in Cincinnati and played amateur and high school baseball with Jim Frey, began his pro career in the Dodgers system in 1949. Two serious head injuries threatened his career. The first injury came in 1953 while he was playing for St. Paul, where he was struck in the head by a pitch from Columbus' Jim Kirk. In 1956, while playing for Brooklyn, Don was struck in the face by a pitch from Reds hurler Hal Jeffcoat. On both occasions, Zimmer was batting .300 at the time of his injury.

After Don finally made it to the Dodgers in 1954, he stayed with them until coming to the Cubs on April 8, 1960. While with the Dodgers, Zimmer played second base in the final game of the 1955 World Series, won by Johnny Podres over the Yankees. It was Brooklyn's first and only World Championship. In his two seasons as a Cub, Zimmer batted .258 and .252. He hit 13 homers and drove in 40 runs to the Cubs in 1961 and represented them in one of the two 1961 All-Star games. Later that fall, Don was selected by the New York Mets in the Expansion Draft. After playing with the Mets, Zimmer also saw service with Cincinnati, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Washington Senators. He returned to the minor leagues in 1966 and 1967 and retired as a player following the '67 season. Don was also a manager in 1967 in the Cincinnati farm system. He moved up to third base coach with the Montreal Expos in 1971. Don replaced Preston Gomez as San Diego Padres manager in April of 1972, after opening the season as the club's third base coach.

Zimmer, who played in two World Series (1955 and 1959), is an avid golfer and fisherman. He also holds the distinction of playing for Charlie Grimm and Lou Boudreau in 1960 and for the College of Coaches in 1961.

THE DAILY DOUBLE

Bobby Dernier and Ryne Sandberg have played four seasons together, three at the minor league level. As a 1-2 punch at the top of the Cubs order last season, the pair were extraordinary. The following chart shows that it wasn't the first time the two combined for great seasons at the top of the batting order.

DID YOU KNOW?

That when Chuck Rainey's no-hitter on August 23, 1983 was ended by Cincinnati's Eddie Milner with two out in the 9th inning, it was the 22nd time in baseball history a no-hitter has been broken with two outs. Additionally, three perfect games have been busted with two outs in the ninth. Rainey was the first Cub to lose a 2-out, 9th inning no-hitter. The Cubs also broke one up themselves—Joe Wallis ruined Tom Seaver's bid in 1975.

OF

MATTHEWS, GARY NATHANIEL—Born 7-5-50, San Fernando, CA, turns 35, July 5. Bats-R; Throws-R; Ht. 6-3; Wt. 205. Single. Children Gary, Jr., Delvon, Dustin and Dannon. How obtained: Became a Cub on March 27, 1984 along with outfielder Bob Dernier and pitcher Porfi Altamirano from Philadelphia in exchange for pitcher Bill Campbell and catcher Mike Diaz. Major League service: 12 years, 29 days.

1984 SEASON: Continued his reputation as one of baseball's most productive players with the Cubs in 1984 as he led the team in game-winning hits (19). . .that also led the National League. . .also had a N.L. high with 103 walks. . .shared top spot with San Diego's Tony Gwynn for on-base percentage (.410) and was fifth in runs scored (101). . .Gary's walk total was the most by a Cub player since Richie Ashburn drew 116 passes in 1960. . . was a key player for the Cubs down the stretch drive, hitting .311 with 9 homers and 42 RBI after the All-Star game. . . batted .318 in July with 17 RBI and hit .316 in August. . . belted 5 of his 14 homers in September, when he hit .286. . . finished with a .291 average and 14 homers with 82 RBI. . . in the final two months of the season, Sarge hit .304 with 7 homers, 31 RBI (including 6 GWRBI) and scored 39 runs. . . was very impressive in the clutch. . . when he batted in the 6th inning or later with the score tied or the Cubs trailing by no more than 3 runs and runners in scoring position, Gary hit .429 (9-for-21) with 1 homer, 11 RBI, 6 walks and 2 sacrifice flies. . . for the season, Sarge hit .301 (47-for-156) with 5 homers and 70 RBI with runners in scoring position.

Opened the season with a 5-game hitting streak and also hit safely in 13 of the club's first 15 games (18-for-50) for a .360 average. . . had 16 walks in that stretch. . . completed April with a .339 average with 10 RBI, 2 homers, 15 runs scored and 17 walks. . . had a number of big games in the next few months. . . went 4-for-5 on May 15 against Cincinnati. . . slumped somewhat, with his average falling off to .263 on July 18. . . went on a tear, hitting in his next 11 games (17-for-35, .486). . . had 12 RBI in this period. . . that lifted his average to .288. . . from July 19 to August 24, Matthews hit safely in 29 of 33 games (44-for-116), batting .379. . . that raised his average to .294 on August 24. . . Gary had 11 multi-hit games during this stretch, including two 3-hit contests and a 4-for-4 outing against Houston on August 14 in the Astrodome. . . Matnews batted .311 on the road compared to a .271 mark at Wrigley Field. . . hit .307 against Western Division clubs with best marks coming against Houston (.375) and San Francisco (.368, 3 homers). . . had outstanding success against the Mets, batting .417 with 3 home runs. . . hit only .240 against Pittsburgh but drove in 15 runs. . . finished the season by hitting in 4 of his final 6 games (.333) with 6 RBI and 2 game-winners. . . collected 5 GWRBI against the Cardinals, including both games in a doubleheader sweep in St. Louis on September 23. . . that reduced the Cubs magic number to one. . . Sarge went 3-for-8 on the day with a 3-run double in Game 1 and a 2-run homer in the second game for a total of 5 RBI on the day.

Continued his heroics in the NLCS against San Diego. . . hit 2 homers in Game 1 at Wrigley Field. . . that gave him a string of 4 consecutive NLCS games in which he had homered. . . he had been the MVP of the 1983 series when he homered in each of the last three games against Los Angeles while playing for the Phillies. . . the 2 homers against San Diego gave him a career total of 5 in NLCS play, tying him for second place on the all-time list. . . he also had 5 RBI in the first 5 games against the Padres, giving him 13 in two NLCS.

MAJOR LEAGUES: Gary has averaged at least a hit a game in his 12-year major league career. . . had a solid three years with the Phillies and helped Philadelphia to post-season play in 1981 and 1983. . . though he hit only .258 for the Phils in 1983, Sarge hit .369 in August. . . batted .429 with 3 homers and 8 RBI in the NLCS against the Dodgers and was named series MVP. . . led Philadelphia with 17 GWRBI in 1982 when he hit .281. . . drove in 83 runs and hit 19 homers. . . Matthews hit .301 in 1981, his first season as a Phil. . . had 67 RBI (fifth best in the N.L.) in the shortened season. . . was N.L. Player of the Month that September when he hit .330 with 7 homers and 31 RBI. . . batted .278 in his final season in Atlanta in 1980. . . hit 19 HR and drove in 75 runs. . . had trouble with Braves management before the season and started the campaign on the bench before moving into the starting lineup in May. . . had 13 GWRBI and a 13-game hitting streak in 1980. . . was traded in March of 1981 to Philly for pitcher Bob Walk. . . had his best statistical season in the big leagues in 1979, batting .304 with a career high 27 home runs and 90 RBI, also a M.L. best. . . his 34 doubles and 192 hits were also M.L. highs. . . had a 13 and 12-game hitting streak in '79. . . was named to the N.L. All-Star team for the only time in his career. . . held hitless in two at-bats in the game played in Seattle. . . batted .281 in 1978 with Atlanta, including 18 homers and 62 RBI. . . that followed a .283 season with 17 homers and 64 RBI. . . missed three weeks of the '77 season with a shoulder injury. . . hit 14 of his 17 homers in Atlanta that season. . .had his best season ever on the basepaths, stealing 22. . .opted for free agency following the 1976 season in San Francisco and was drafted by 12 teams. . .signed with Atlanta on November 18, 1976. . .batted .279 with 20 homers and 84 RBI in his final season in S.F. . .the 84 RBI are his second best season in the big leagues in that category. . .his 164 hits and 28 doubles were also career highs for him at that stage of his career. . .hit .300, .287 and .280 in his first three full seasons with the Giants beginning in 1973. . .had 82 RBI in 1974 and produced 10 triples in 1973, which is still his M.L. best for one season. . .was named N.L. Rookie of the Year in 1973 by both the BBWAA and The Sporting News. . .he became the fourth Giant—and the first since Willie McCovey in 1959—to win the rookie honor. . .played in 20 games for the Giants and batted .290. . .got his first M.L. hit off Bill Greig at San Diego on September 6, 1972. . .played for Charlie Fox in his early years in San Francisco. . .played in Willie Mays' final season as a Giant in 1972.

IN THE MINORS: Opened the 1972 season at Phoenix (AAA) of the Pacific Coast League and hit .313 with 150 hits, 21 homers and 108 RBI (a pro high). . .the 108 RBI also broke Dusty Rhodes' Phoenix record of 100, set in 1958. . .played for Amarillo (AA) of the Texas League in 1971. . .batted .280 and led the league in doubles (37), total bases and RBI (86). . .also led the league in fielding. . .played for Fresno (A) of the California League in 1970 and hit .279. . .broke in with Decatur, IL (A) of the Midwest League in 1969 and hit .322 in 53 games and made the league's All-Star team. . .was the Giants top pick in the 1968 June free agent draft, the 17th pick overall in that draft.

KEITH MORELAND (6)OF

MORELAND, BOBBY KEITH—Born 5-2-54, Dallas, TX, turns 31, May 2. Bats-R; Throws-R; Ht. 6-0; Wt. 200. Wife's name: Cindy. Children: Courtney. How obtained: Became a Cub on December 8, 1981 along with pitchers Dickie Noles and Dan Larson from the Philadelphia Phillies in exchange for pitcher Mike Krukow and cash. Major League service: 5 years, 57 days.

1984 SEASON: It would be appropriate to divide Keith's season into two seasons, as he was being platooned in rightfield with Mel Hall until June 13, when Hall was traded to Cleveland. . . at that time, Keith was batting .246 with 2 homers and 11 RBI. . . went on to post M.L. personal highs in RBI (80) and tied his best in home runs (16) despite having 33 fewer at-bats than he did in 1983 when he also hit 16 homers and drove in 70 runs. . . had his best month of the year in August when he was named National League Player of the Month. . . batted .360 with 5 homers and 32 RBI. . . also had 8 game-winning hits. . . began August in grand fashion. In the first 8 games of the month, Keith batted .529 (18-for-34) with 2 doubles, 4 homers and 15 RBI along with 4 game-winning hits. . . Keith had 4 GWRBI and 3 game-tying RBI in the first 8 Cub wins in August. . . had 4 game-winning hits in four days (August 5-8) covering 5 games. . . hit 5 of his 16 homers in both June and August. . . 4 of his 16 homers came against Philadelphia pitching. . . hit two homers in a game twice last season (June 17 vs. Philadelphia) and (July 17 vs. San Diego). . . also hit the second grand slam of his career on August 5 vs. Montreal. . . his .279 average proved to be almost evenly divided. . . Keith hit .280 against Western Division pitching and .278 against Eastern Division hurlers. . . batted .288 with runners in scoring position. . . hit .301 on artificial surfaces. . . was a .295 hitter on the road compared to a .262 mark at Wrigley Field. . . 13 of his 16 homers came at home. . . batted .375 against Cincinnati, including 10 RBI. . . hit .302 against New York with 10 RBI, including 3 game-winners. . . also hit well against Montreal (.352) and San Diego (.300). . . only Atlanta (.167) and St. Louis (.230) gave him any difficulty. . . continued to improve on defense and become a steady performer in rightfield. . . also filled in at third base, first base and caught

3 games. . .subbed for Leon Durham at first base when Durham was on the DL. . .Keith's 11 GWRBI were a career high and ranked third on the club behind Gary Matthews (19) and Leon Durham (14). . .hit .333 against San Diego in the NLCS with 6 hits in 18 at-bats, including 2 doubles. . .it was Keith's second appearance in a NLCS.

MAJOR LEAGUES: Keith led the Cubs in hitting with a .302 mark, the sixth best average in the National League in 1983. . .it was the first time in his career that he hit more than .300 as a regular. . .set career high for games played (154) in the M.L.. . .also set highs in runs scored (76), doubles (30) and walks (68). . .was the most successful Cub in advancing runners in scoring position with less than two out. . .had 27 two-out RBI, second on the team in 1983 to Ron Cey (30). . .batted .282 or higher in every month but May that season. . .best stretch of '83 season came between August 29 and September 17 when he hit safely in 16 of 19 games, batting .413. . .after June 20 Keith's average never dipped below .290. . .tied for the club lead in GWRBI with 11. . .Keith became a regular in the M.L. for the first time in 1982. . .ranked among the league leaders in several offensive categories the first two months of the season. . .opened the season as the Cubs No. 1 catcher before being switched to the outfield. . .also played third base. . .through May 21 he was batting .356 with 8 homers, 33 RBI. . .his best stretch of the season was from April 17 to May 9 when he hit safely in 19 of 19 games, batting .427. . .batted .226 from June 19 through the end of the season. . .in 1981, Keith took over the Phillies No. 1 catching duties from veteran Bob Boone in August. . .always versatile, Keith played two games at first base in 1981, seven at third, two in the outfield plus 50 behind the plate. . .in 1980 he was a member of the World Championship Phillies. . .while going hitless in one at bat during the League Championship Series against Houston, he batted .333 (4-for-12) against the Kansas City Royals in the World Series. . .batted .314 in 1980, second on the Phillies to Lonnie Smith's .339. . .while serving as Boone's back-up for most of the season, Keith contributed 7 game-winning hits.

IN THE MINORS: His last minor league season was 1979 when he batted .302 for Oklahoma City in 130 games. . .tied for the American Association lead in doubles with 34. . .also hit career high 20 homers and 109 RBI. . .led the league with 21 game-winning hits. . .in 1978 he led the American Association in sacrifice flies (10) and double plays by a catcher (10). . .worked his way up the Phillies farm system beginning in 1975 in Spartanburg (Rookie) of the West Carolinas League. . .played in Peninsula (A) of the Carolina League and Reading (AA) of the Eastern League in 1976. . .split the 1977 season at Reading and Oklahoma City after batting .327 at Reading. . .began his pro career as a third baseman. . .also played shortstop. . .started catching in 1976. . .was signed by the Phillies following the June 1975 free agent draft.

1984 SEASON: Reggie had a strong season at Iowa (AAA) of the American Association and made three appearances in September with the Cubs after being recalled. . . tied a career high with his 14 wins for the Des Moines club en route to a 14-7 mark and 4.33 ERA. . . pitched a no-hitter against Omaha August 21 in a 2-0 victory. . . walked one and struck out seven in improving his record to 13-6. . . an error in the second inning ruined his perfect game bid. . . Reggie led Iowa in victories and innings pitched (179) and ranked second in strikeouts (116). . . finished with an 0-1 record and 10.50 ERA in the three games with the Cubs. . . made his season debut against Pittsburgh on September 18. . . started against the Pirates at Three Rivers Stadium on September 25, the day after the Cubs clinched the N.L. Eastern Division. . . dropped a 7-1 game to the Pirates, lasting 4 innings. . . the defeat left Reggie with a 1-4 M.L. mark.

MAJOR LEAGUES: Made his N.L. debut on September 13, 1983 against Montreal in relief and yielded one hit in his only inning of work. . . notched his first M.L. victory against the Mets on September 25 when he went 8.1 innings and allowed 7 hits and 5 runs in an 11-7 Cubs victory. . . made his M.L. debut with the White Sox in 1981 on August 13 against the Red Sox in Fenway Park, two days after being purchased from the Sox Triple A farm club in Edmonton. . . Carl Yastrzemski touched him for a homer in that debut as Reggie went 1.2 innings. . . two days later, against Baltimore, Patterson held the Orioles scoreless over three innings. . . played in six games, the only start coming in his debut at Boston. . . is 0-1 lifetime in the American League.

IN THE MINORS: Reggie was signed as a free agent by the White Sox in June of 1979. . . was 5-1 at Niagara Falls (A) of the New York-Penn League and 2-1 at Knoxville (AA) in the Southern League his first pro season. . . won 10 games for the two Sox' farm clubs the next season and was 10-8 at Edmonton (AAA) of the Pacific Coast League in 1981 prior to his recall by the White Sox. . . returned to Edmonton in 1982 and won 14 games.

PERSONAL/MISC: Reggie is married to the former Terry Johnson. They reside in Bessemer, AL during the off-season. . . was graduated from Jess Lanier High School in Bessemer in 1977 after being captain of both his baseball and basketball teams. . . he credits his older brother, Robert, with teaching him the wide assortment of breaking pitches which he displays. . . Robert was signed by Boston as a pitcher in 1971 but an auto accident (leg injury) ended his career. . . lists his hobbies as fishing, swimming, basketball and hunting.

RUTHVEN, RICHARD DAVID—Born 3-27-51, Sacramento, CA, turns 34, March 27. Bats-R; Throws-R; Ht. 6-3; Wt. 190. Wife's name: Susan. Children: Erik and Sean. How obtained: Became a Cub on May 22, 1983 along with pitcher Bill Johnson from the Philadelphia Phillies in exchange for pitcher Willie Hernandez. Major League service: 11 years, 58 days.

1984 SEASON: Dick made a quick recovery from a serious operation in mid-May to rejoin the club in mid-July. . .began the campaign as the club's top starter and beat the Giants in San Francisco (5-3) on Opening Day. . .scattered 9 hits and 2 earned runs over 7.1 innings in that game. . .pitched 6 inning on April 14 to beat New York (5-2) to run his record to 2-0. . .lost his next 5 decisions, beginning on April 25 in St. Louis. . .did not go beyond 6 innings in any of his losses from April 25 to May 17 as his ERA soared to 5.65. . .after the fifth loss on May 17 against Cincinnati, Ruthven was examined and diagnosed as having a compressed artery in his right shoulder. . .he underwent surgery on May 23. . .the surgery shifted a band of muscle, which relieved pressure on the artery and helped increase circulation in his pitching arm. . . . Dick then underwent a stringent rehabilitation program and made an amazing recovery. . . . assigned to Lodi (A) of the California League on June 29 along with pitcher Scott Sanderson for rehab. . . . made two starts for Lodi. . . . came off the DL on July 15 and started the next day against San Diego. . . . dropped that game although he pitched 8 strong innings and allowed only 6 hits and 3 earned runs. . . . before the surgery he had a 2-5 record and 5.65 ERA. . . . after surgery he was 4-5 with a 4.64 ERA. . . . perhaps his best outing after surgery came on September 2 in Atlanta when he allowed 6 hits and 1 run over 7 innings as the Cubs beat the Braves, 4-2. . . . in 4 of his 5 outings against the Mets, Ruthven drew Dwight Gooden as his pitching opponent. . . . was 1-3 against the National League's Rookie of the Year. . . . was 2-3 against the Mets overall. . . . was 3-3 at Wrigley Field and 3-4 against Eastern Division teams.

MAJOR LEAGUES: Had a 1-3 record and 5.61 ERA with the Phillies before coming over to the Cubs in May of 1983. . . . developed into the Cubs most dependable starter as he went on to lead the club in complete games (5) and shutouts (2) while posting a 12-9 mark. . . . won 8 of his final 13 decisions and 6 of his last 9. . . . had a 2-hitter over St. Louis on June 19. . . . also hurled a 4-hit shutout against Montreal on September 12. . . . his first Cub shutout was against Pittsburgh on June 29. . . . made his Cubs debut on May 24 in Houston and pitched 6.1 innings in getting the win in a 5-4 victory. . . . opposition hit only .214 on artificial surfaces against Dick in 1983. . . . had a 7-4 record at Wrigley Field. . . . Dick won five consecutive games between May 8 and June 15 after going 0-3 to start the 1982 season. . . . named N.L. Pitcher of the Month for May when he went 4-0 with a 1.18 ERA. . . . 11 wins in '82 ranked third on the Phils staff. . . . beat Pittsburgh on September 10 for his 100th M.L. win. . . . eight complete games was his second best figure in that department in his M.L. career. . . . won a career-high 17 games in 1980 to help lead the Phillies into the World Series. . . . went 16-8 with a 3.07 ERA after May 2. . . . defeated Houston in the fifth game of the '80 N.L. Championship Series. . . . pitched nine innings in Game 3 of the '80 World Series, scattering nine hits, but was not involved in the decision. . . . named to the N.L. RYNE SANDBERG (23)

IF

SANDBERG, RYNE DEE—Born 9-19-59, Spokane, WA, turns 26, September 18. Bats-R; Throws-R; Ht. 6-2; Wt. 180. Wife's name: Cindy. Children: Lindsey, Justin. How obtained: Became a Cub on January 27, 1982 when he was traded by the Philadelphia Phillies along with shortstop Larry Bowa for shortstop Ivan DeJesus. Major League service: 3 years, 34 days.

1984 SEASON: Ryne emerged as one of baseball's premier all-around players in 1984. . .received numerous post-season awards including the league's Most Valuable Player Award and The Sporting News Player of the Year award. . .became the fifth Cub and the first since Ernie Banks in 1959 to win the MVP. . .Ryne also earned a Gold Glove at second base for the second straight season, becoming the first Cub to repeat at one position since shortstop Don Kessinger was honored in 1969 and 1970.

Sandberg batted .314 in 156 games in 1984, the fourth highest average in the league. . .his 200 hits were second in the league to San Diego's Tony Gwynn and the most by a Cub since Bill Buckner collected 201 in 1982. Ryne led the league in runs scored with 114 and tied Philadelphia's Juan Samuel for the league lead in triples with 19. . .also tied Samuel for third in doubles with 36. . .his .520 slugging percentage was third in the league behind Dale Murphy of Atlanta (.547) and Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt (.536). . .Sandberg had 331 total bases, one behind league-leader Murphy. . .the last second baseman to lead the league in total bases was Rogers Hornsby (409) in 1929. . .had a career-high 19 homers, the most by a Cubs second baseman since Hornsby had 40 in 1929. . .also set career highs in runs scored, hits, doubles, triples, average and at-bats.

THE 200 20-20-20-20 CLUB

No player in baseball history has ever had a season when he had 200 or more hits plus 20 or more doubles, triples, homers and stolen bases. Ryne Sandberg came the closest to achieving that plateau falling short by one homer and one triple. Here are a few of the players who have come the closest in baseball history:

PLAYER	YEAR	TEAM	HITS	2B	3B	HR	SB
RYNE SANDBERG	1984	CUBS	200	36	19	19	32
Willie Mays	1957	N.Y. Giants	195	26	20	35	38
George Brett	1980	Kansas City	212	42	20	23	17
Jeff Heath	1941	Cleveland	199	32	20	24	18
Jim Bottomley	1925	St. Louis (NL)	227	42	20	31	10
Frank Schulte	1911	CUBS	173	30	21	21	23

Ryne narrowly missed becoming the first player in baseball history to have 200 or more hits plus 20 or more doubles, triples, homers and stolen bases in the same season. . .he finished 1 homer and 1 triple shy. . .became the first Cub second baseman since Billy Herman in 1935 to have more than 70 extra base hits in a season. . .he was second on the club in stolen bases to Bobby Dernier (45). Ryne swiped 32 in 39 attempts (82%). Defensively, he played virtually flawless, committing just 6 errors in 870 chances for a league-leading fielding percentage among second basemen of .9932. . .the N.L. record is .9937 set in 1982 by Manny Trillo. . .Ryne led the majors in total chances (870) and assists (550) for the second straight season. . .he also had the longest errorless streak for a N.L. second baseman—61 games from June 29 to September 6.

Ryne was manager Jim Frey's star pupil in spring training. . .Frey wanted Sandberg to pull the ball more and to improve his power production. . .the instruction worked and Sandberg had his best season at any level. . .played well from the outset of the season causing Frey to remark: "no player has played as well for as long as Ryne has this season." . .had an 18-game hitting streak (.421, 32-76) from April 24 through May 16, the longest streak of his major league career. . .at that time of the season, it tied Detroit's Alan Trammell for the longest streak in the majors. . .had 10 multi-hit games in the streak, including 6 straight and three straight 3-hit games. . .missed just one of the club's first 118 games, that coming when his wife Cindy gave birth to the couple's second child and first son, Justin Ross, on May 6 (vs. San Diego). . .collected his 100th hit June 27 to become the second player in the league to reach that level. . .was the first to score 100 runs on September 1 at Atlanta.

Had one of the greatest single games in baseball history on June 23 at Wrigley Field in leading the Cubs back from a 7-1 deficit against the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cubs rallied to beat the Cards 12-11 before a national television audience. . .Ryne went 5-for-6 with 2 homers and 7 RBI. . .with the Cubs trailing 9-8, Sandberg led off the ninth inning with a homer off Bruce Sutter. . .after the Cardinals scored a pair of runs in the 10th inning, Sandberg hit a two-out, two-run homer off Sutter to tie the game again. . .the Cubs won in the 11th inning on a bases loaded single by Dave Owen. . .Sandberg became the first player to hit two homers off Sutter in one game and St. Louis manager Whitey Herzog called Sandberg "probably the greatest player I've ever seen."

"Ryno" was a distant third in the all-star balloting before rallying in the last week to surpass Steve Sax and Alan Wiggins and earn the starting position on the N.L. squad. . .he singled in the game at Candlestick Park in San Francisco. . .hit the All-Star Break with a major league high 118 hits. . .had his most productive month just prior to the break when he was named the National League's Player of the Month for June by hitting .376 with 8 homers and 21 RBI. . .also had a great August, batting .366 (34-for-91) with a 15-game hitting streak. . .missed three games in mid-August after suffering a bruised left hip in a collision with Astros first baseman Enos Cabell in Houston on August 13. . .Ryne teamed up with long-time minor league teammate Bobby Dernier to provide the Cubs with the best "one-two" punch in the league. . .they combined for 349 hits, 208 runs and 116 RBI. . .Sandberg stole home for the third time in his career on April 8 in San Diego off Mark Thurmond. . .batted .368 in the NLCS against San Diego, second on the club to Jody Davis' .389.

MAJOR LEAGUES: In 1983, Ryne earned the first Gold Glove of his career and became the first player in N.L. history to win a Gold Glove in his first year at a new position. . . it was the first time a Cub had earned the award since shortstop Don Kessinger in 1970. . . led the league's second basemen in fielding percentage (.986). . . he had a 38-game errorless streak from May 21 to June 30. . . hit his first career grand slam on May 31, 1983 against Houston's Frank LaCorte at Wrigley. . . stole 2 bases in a game twice and swiped home for the second time in his career on June 4 against Jim Bibby and the Pirates. . . finished second on the team in hits (165) and games played (158) and led the club in runs scored (94) and stolen bases (37). . . the 37 stolen bases were the most by a Cubs second baseman since Johnny Evers swiped 46 in 1907. . . in 1982, Ryne enjoyed one of the finest rookie seasons of any Cub in the last 15 years. . . was selected Rookie of the Year by the Chicago Baseball Writers Association of America. . . after a 1-for-32 start, he finished with a .271 average, reaching a season-high on August 12 (.276). . . was second on the team with 33 doubles and 32 stolen bases. . . led team with 103 runs scored, becoming the first Cub to score more than 100 runs since 1978 (Ivan DeJesus). . . 103 runs also established a team record for runs scored by a rookie, breaking a 50-year-old mark held by Billy Herman. . . his 32 stolen bases were also a record for a Cubs third baseman, breaking Harry Steinfeldt's record of 29 that has stood since 1906. . . from May 7 to September 1, Ryne played 105 games and failed to hit safely in two straight games only twice. . . defensively, he was outstanding at third base even though he had played just a handful of games at that position previously. . . committed 11 errors in 140 games at third, second to Bob Horner's 10 errors in 137 games. . . moved to second base on September 3 and played 24 games. . . became the first Cub to steal home since Rodney Scott (June 6, 1978) when he accomplished it against the Braves and pitcher Bob Walk on July 17. . . hit two homers in one game vs. Pittsburgh and Eddie Solomon on April 23. . . had one stretch where he stole 15 bases in 17 attempts.

IN THE MINORS: During the 1981 season, Ryne played at Oklahoma City (AAA) in the Phillies' organization. . . led team in games (133), at-bats (519) and hits (152). . . played 117 games at shortstop and had a fielding percentage of .972, second in the American Association. . . stole 32 bases in 42 tries. . . in 1980, he had an outstanding season at Reading (AA) of the Eastern League batting .310 and leading the league's shortstops in assists (386), fielding average (.964) and double plays (81) earning a place on the Eastern League All-Star team. . . in 1979, he led the Western Carolinas League (A) in double plays (80). . . in 1978, he led the Pioneer League (Rookie) in double plays (38) while playing for Helena. . . was drafted by the Phillies on the 21st round of the June 8, 1978 free agent draft.

PERSONAL/MISC: Ryne is married to the former Cindy White and they reside in Tempe, AZ during the off-season. . . Ryne attended North Central High School in Spokane and was graduated in 1978. . . hobbies include hunting, fishing, hiking, playing tennis and listening to music. . . while at North Central he earned All-City honors in basketball and baseball and was a first team All-State selection in football. . . Ryne signed a national letter of intent at Washington University just four days before signing a pro baseball contract. . . participated in the last two winter caravans.

RHP

SANDERSON, SCOTT DOUGLAS—Born 1-22-56, Dearborn, MI, turns 29, July 22. Bats-R; Throws-R; Ht. 6-5; Wt. 200. Wife's name Cathleen. How obtained: Became a Cub on December 7, 1983, in a three-team deal that sent Sanderson to the Cubs from Montreal, pitcher Gary Lucas from San Diego to the Expos and infielders Carmelo Martinez and Fritz Connally and pitcher Craig Lefferts from the Cubs to the Padres. Major League service: 6 years, 63 days.

1984 SEASON: Got off to a fast start in his first season as a Cub before injuring his back in mid-May. . . won 4 of his 5 decisions and ranked among the league leaders in ERA when he developed back spasms on May 9 against Los Angeles. . . left the game that day after 5 innings with a 5-0 lead to earn his fourth straight victory, pushing his record to 4-1. . . first win came April 18 against St. Louis (6-1) when he went 8.2 innings and allowed 6 hits. . . beat the Cards the next time out on the road and pitched his first complete game on April 28 in Pittsburgh (7-1), allowing just 2 hits. . . he struck out 3 Pirates and didn't walk a batter as he improved his record to 3-1. . . tied Rick Sutcliffe for the low-hit game of the year turned in by a Cubs pitcher. . . by May 9 he was 4-1 with a 2.17 ERA. . . after leaving the L.A. game on May 9, Sanderson lasted only one-third of an inning on May 15 against Cincinnati. . . missed two starts and tried to pitch May 29 in Atlanta but left after only 3 innings in a no-decision. . . Scott then was placed on the 21-day disabled list and spent the first week of June in a Chicago hospital. . . was sent to Lodi (A) of the California League for rehabilitation and pitched in one game on June 29. . . was activated on July 5 and beat San Francisco on the coast (9-3), lasting 5.1 innings. . . was 4-4 after coming off the DL. . . pitched in pain most of the time in the second half of the season. . . best effort was in New York on July 29 when he held the Mets to 5 hits and 1 run in 7.2 innings in a 5-1 victory. . . that enabled the Cubs to take a doubleheader from the Mets. . . his seventh and eighth wins came in September. . . went the route in Philadelphia on September 4 in a 7-2 victory. . . went 7.1 innings against the Mets at Wrigley Field on September 15 and allowed 3 hits in a 5-4 win. . . finished 6-1 against Eastern Division clubs with a 1.63 ERA. . . was 2-0 against the Mets with a 1.50 ERA in 4 games covering 24 innings. . . was hit rather hard by Western Division clubs (2-4, 4.72 ERA). . . Scott started Game 4 of the NLCS against San Diego and worked 4.2 innings without a decision. . . pitched well on the road, going 5-3 with a 3.39 ERA. . . opposition batted .225 off Sanderson with runners in scoring position. . . the East batted only .196 off Sanderson.

MAJOR LEAGUES: Had an injury-filled season in 1983 with Montreal, his fifth full season with that organization. . . went 6-7 with a 4.65 ERA. . . tore ligaments in his right thumb in a baserunning accident at Wrigley

Field on July 4 and was on the DL until September 1. . . was 2-0 against the Cubs in 1983 to improve his lifetime record to 10-5 against them. . . until '83, Sanderson had never experienced a losing season as a pro. . . finished 1982 very strong, going 6-1 in his last eight starts from August 24. . . had a 2.91 ERA in those last eight starts to finish 12-12. . . struck out 11—his career high—in the only setback in that stretch against the New York Mets on September 16. . . he did it in only five innings. . . from September 11-21, he fanned 21 batters in only 11.2 innings. . . his strikeout total in 1982 (158 in 224 innings) was the eighth best in the N.L. . . innings and strikeout totals were both career highs. . . was 3-0 against Cincinnati in 1982 and is 6-0 against the Reds lifetime. . . hit his first-and-only career homer off Randy Martz, a grand slam, at Wrigley Field on September 11, 1982. . . was 9-7 in the shortened 1981 season with a 2.96 ERA. . . had his best year in the majors in 1980, going 16-11 with a 3.11 ERA. . . completed 7 games (a career-high which he tied in 1982). . . Scott was sixth in the N.L. in wins that season and ninth among the qualifiers for the ERA title. . . went 9-8 in 1979, his first full season with the Expos, appearing in 34 games, the most in his M.L. career. . . was promoted to the Expos on August 1, 1978 after only 28 minor league starts. . . made M.L. debut against the Cubs on August 6 in a starting assignment and did not figure in the decision in a 4-3 loss. . . lasted 5.1 innings and allowed one run and six hits. . . faced the Cubs on August 13 and took the loss, losing 2-1, in a seven-inning performance which saw him yield both runs. . . after an 0-2 start, Scott notched his first M.L. win in San Diego on September 2, going 6.2 innings in a 3-2 win over the Padres. . . went 4-0 with a 2.16 ERA in September to win Expos Player of the Month honors and finish with a 4-2 record and 2.51 ERA.

IN THE MINORS: After he was drafted in the third round of the June free agent draft in 1977, Sanderson went 5-2 at West Palm Beach (A) of the Florida State League. . . pitched at Memphis (AA) of the Southern League in 1978, going 5-3. . . was promoted to Denver (AAA) of the American Association, posting a 4-2 mark, before his step up to the major leagues.

PERSONAL/MISC: Scott is married to the former Cathleen Cavanaugh and they reside in Northbrook, IL during the off-season. . . Scott was all-state in baseball in his final two years of high school. . . attended Glenbrook North in Northbrook. . . drafted by Kansas City in 1974 but instead Scott opted for Vanderbilt University, majoring in business finance and history. . . played for the U.S. National team at the Inter-Continental Cup in Montreal in 1975 and in the 1976 Pan American Games. . . Scott attracted the attention of Expos management after his rookie season in 1977 when he went 9-2 with a 1.41 ERA in the Venezuelan Winter League and had two more wins in the Caribbean World Series. . . very civic-minded individual who participates in many charitable functions for the Cubs. . . hobbies include water-skiing, tennis, golf and carpentry.

1984 SEASON: Enjoyed his finest season in the majors, setting career highs in victories (13) and ERA (3.41). . . Trout was the only lefthander on the Cubs staff for the majority of the season. . . he came into his own thanks in large part to the off-season work with Cubs pitching coach Billy Connors, who worked with him in Florida. . . won 3 of his first 4 decisions, including back-to-back complete game wins over the Mets (11-2) on April 13 at Wrigley Field and the Cardinals (6-1) on April 19 at Wrigley. . . won 6 straight decisions as a starter from May 16 to July 3 to improve his record to 9-3. . . victims in this period included Atlanta (twice), Cincinnati, Los Angeles, San Diego and Philadelphia. . . only loss in that span was in relief on May 26 against Cincinnati. . . hurled a shutout (3-0) and 7-hitter in a big July 29 game at New York in the first game of a doubleheader sweep over the Mets which helped the Cubs climb to within 1½ games of first place. . . it was Steve's first shutout since 1980. . . posted his second shutout on August 26 at Wrigley Field, blanking Atlanta 5-0. . . also pitched well against the Braves on the road, going 7.2 hitless innings on May 30 in a 6-2 Cubs win. . . signed a 5-year contract during the winter meetings after opting for free agency. . . his 13 wins were second high on the staff. . . led staff in innings pitched (190) and had the third best ERA among club starters. . . led club in starts (31). . . was especially effective against Atlanta, New York and St. Louis. . . posted a 3-0 record and 0.59 ERA against the Braves in 30.2 IP. . . was 2-0 with a 2.60 ERA against the Cards and went 2-1 against the Mets. . . was 6-2 vs. the Eastern Division. . . won 3 games in April and May. . . had 2 wins in each of the next three months. . . went 8.1 innings in Game 2 of the playoffs against San Diego as the Cubs took a 4-2 decision. . . Trout limited the Padres to 5 hits in his victory. . . also relieved Rick Sutcliffe in the 7th inning of Game 5 and got both batters he faced to retire the side.

MAJOR LEAGUES: Made his N.L. debut with the Cubs in 1983 and won 10 games, fourth best on the staff. . . got off to a 1-5 start before winning 5 of his next 6 starts to square his record at 6-6 on June 18. . . first win as a Cub came on 4/12 in Montreal. . . that made him the first Cub lefty starter to win a game since Dave Geisel won on September 28, 1981. . . only complete game of '83 was a 10-1 win in St. Louis on June 18. . . that was a 4-hitter. . . was 7-7 at the All-Star break before disappointing in the second half (3-7, 4.65 ERA). . . finished the last couple weeks in the bullpen. . . lost five straight games from August 15 until he beat Philadelphia on September 27 in relief. . . 8 of his 10 wins came against the Eastern Division. . . best month was June, when he went 3-1. . . spent four full seasons with the White Sox before coming over in an off-season trade a month before spring training in 1983. . . best season for White Sox was an 11-8 record and a 3.89 ERA in 1979 following his recall on May 5 from Iowa (AAA) of the American Association. . . had a 6-9 record in his final season with the Sox in 1982 with May being his best month, 3-2 and a 3.76 ERA. . . in 1981 he finished with an 8-7 record but at times was brilliant. . . early in the second half he went 10 straight appearances (eight starts, two in relief) without allowing more than three runs in an appearance covering 61.2 innings. . . allowed five homers the first half of the season and only two in the second half. . . permitted only one homer from May 24 to September 23 covering 69.1 innings. . . equaled his one-game strikeout high by fanning seven Tigers on April 24 and seven Blue Jays on May 18. . . before play was interrupted he was among the American League ERA leaders with a 2.73 mark and a 5-3 record in 69.1 innings. . .in 1980 he was second on the staff in innings pitched (199.2) and third in wins (9), starts (30), complete games (7) and strikeouts (89). . .also claimed the staff one-season record for consecutive shutout innings with 27 from July 1-13. . .on July 13, Steve and Rudy May of the New York Yankees were locked-up in a double no-hitter for seven innings. . .Steve eventually lost the game 3-1. . .made M.L. debut in 1978, posting a 3-0 record.

IN THE MINORS: Pitched in the minor leagues for two-plus seasons before being recalled by the White Sox in 1978. . .his best season was at Knoxville (AA) of the Southern League when he was 8-3 with a 1.65 ERA in 1978. . .he won eight of his 12 starts that season. . .he also pitched well at Iowa in 1979 when he opened the season at the Triple-A level and registered a 3-1 record.

PERSONAL/MISC: Steve is married to the former Sandra Belder. . .they reside in Crete, IL during the off-season. . .although Steve was born in Detroit he grew up in south suburban South Holland, IL while his father, former major league pitcher Paul (Dizzy) Trout, worked in the White Sox office. . .Paul pitched for the Detroit Tigers in the 1945 World Series against the Cubs. . .graduated from Thornwood High School in South Holland. . .it was his high school baseball teammates who nicknamed him "Rainbow". . .selected by the White Sox' organization in the first round of the June, 1976 free agent draft. . .he was the eighth player selected overall.

SCORING RULE—PINCH HITTERS

A player shall be considered a pinch hitter only if he enters the game as a substitute batter and then only on his first time at bat which must be before he becomes a fielder. (If the team bats around and a pinch hitter comes up a second time in the inning in which he first appeared, he will not be considered a pinch hitter during that second time up.)

A substitute hitter for a designated hitter is both a pinch hitter and a designated hitter on his first time at bat. On subsequent trips to the plate he is a designated hitter only.

DID YOU KNOW?

That former Cubs great Cap Anson is the oldest player to have hit a grand slam in the major leagues. Cap was 42 years and three months old when he hit a bases loaded HR on August 1, 1884. Cap also closed out his career by hitting two home runs in the first game of a doubleheader against St. Louis on October 3, 1897 when he was 45 years and five months old. Only Philadelphia A's pitcher Jack Quinn hit a major league homer at an older age. Quinn was one week shy of his 46th birthday when he connected on June 27, 1930.

DID YOU KNOW...?

Cubs pitcher Jim Lavender defeated the New York Giants' Rube Marquard to end the great Giant hurler's 19-game winning streak, a record that still stands.

On September 29, 1935, Augie Galan played his 154th game of the season for the Cubs without hitting into a double play to set a current major league record.

SAVE RULE

Saves shall be awarded to relief pitchers under the following criteria:

Rule (10:20) tells the official scorer to credit a pitcher with a save when he meets all three of the following conditions: (1) He is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club; and (2) He is not the winning pitcher; and (3) He qualifies under the following conditions: (a) He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning; or (b) He enters the game with the potential tying run either on base, or at bat, or on deck, (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsman he faces); or (c) He pitches effectively for at least three innings.

NO-HITTER DAY

On August 19, 1965, Jim Maloney of the Cincinnati Reds threw a 10-inning no-hitter against the Cubs in Wrigley Field. The Reds won the game 1-0 on a home run by Leo Cardenas. Four years later, August 19, 1969, Cubs lefty Ken Holtzman threw the first of his two no-hitters when he beat the Atlanta Braves 3-0 at Wrigley Field. All three runs came from a first-inning Ron Santo home run.

CUBS HALL OF FAME

The Chicago Cubs organization instituted the formation of the Chicago Cubs Hall of Fame in 1982. The first season, the club selected 17 former Cubs who had previously been inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, NY. Also inducted that season by the Cubs organization were three members of the Wrigley family. The fans voted and selected an additional dozen former Cubs, bringing the first year induction total to 32. The former greats were honored in pre-game ceremonies on Old Timers Day, July 21. Each season fans will select a limited number of former greats to be inducted. Plaques containing a likeness of the inductee and detailing his career accomplishments are on display in the Cubs souvenir gift shop located along the lower concourse in rightfield. Here is a list of those former Cubs in the Chicago Cubs Hall of Fame.

A PAIR OF FIRSTS

On April 20, 1916, the Cubs played their first game in Wrigley Field and defeated the Cincinnati Reds 7-6 in 11 innings.

Thirty years later to the day, the first Cubs game was telecast over WBKD with Joe Wilson at the microphone. Unfortunately for the Cubs, Harry Breechen hurled a six-hitter and the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Cubs 2-0.

GENERAL RULES INFORMATION

Player Limits: Clubs must cut active roster to a maximum of 25 players on opening day...From Sept. 1 to opening day, clubs may carry up to 40 players.

Waivers: Players contracts may be available for purchase by other clubs in reverse order of the League standings at the time waivers expire, if more than 30 days after opening day. Otherwise, in reverse order of the standing at the close of the previous season.

Regulation Game: A regulation game consists of nine innings unless extended because of a tie score or shortened because (1) the home team needs none of its half of the ninth or only part of it; or (2) because the umpire-in-chief calls the game after five completed innings. A regulation game may be less than five innings if the home team is ahead after the first of the fifth, or takes the lead or ties the score while at bat in the fifth.

Tie Games: A regulation game that is called by the umpire-in-chief when both teams have the same number of runs is a tie game. Individual player performances are official and are entered in the records, but the game does not count in the League standings and may be rescheduled at a later date.

TICKET INFORMATION AND PRICES

Reserved seat tickets for all games are available by mail. Orders should be sent to the Director of Ticket Services, Wrigley Field, Chicago, IL., 60613. On the morning of each home game there are several thousand bleacher seats available without reservations.

Reserved tickets can also be purchased in advance at the Wrigley Field Ticket Office (Addison & Clark). Tickets may also be purchased through TICKETMASTER, which will handle all telephone sales. This system will allow customers access to the best seat available at the time of purchase. Tickets can also be charged to MasterCard or Visa credit cards by calling TICKETMASTER at 312/559-1212. Residents outside Illinois should call 1-800-548-4000. No phone orders will be taken at the Wrigley Field ticket office.

A new ticket price structure is in effect this season. There are four box seat classifications; club, $9.50; field, $9.50; terrace $7.50 and upper deck boxes $7.50. Terrace reserved seats may be purchased for $6. Upper deck reserved seats are $5.00 for adults and $3.50 for children. Admission to the bleachers is $3.50.

BROADCASTERS FOR 1985

LOU BOUDREAU

Known as "Good Kid" to his colleagues and friends, Lou Boudreau will be entering his 27th season in the broadcasting booth at Wrigley Field in 1985. Aside from being one of the most celebrated shortstops in baseball history, the Hall of Famer (induction 1970) is also known for his baseball analysis in the booth.

"Lou is outstanding," says Cubs broadcaster Harry Caray. "He knows the game. Lou is my cup of tea—he's a ballplayer. I'm of the Lou Boudreau vintage and I know who he was and how good he played. And I know how to get him to open up and talk about those memories up in the booth. The fan loves it."

As he did in 1984, Boudreau will serve as color commentator on WGN radio. Remembered for his famed Ted Williams Shift displayed when he managed the Cleveland Indians, Boudreau first joined the Cubs broadcasting team as a color sidekick for the late Jack Quinlan in 1958. Quinlan was the Cubs play-by-play man on radio in those days. This assignment came on the heels of a two-year managerial stint with the Kansas City Athletics (1955-57). Since 1958, with the exception of a brief managerial tour with the Cubs in 1960 (he and Charlie Grimm switched places), Boudreau has been a fixture in the WGN booth.

Born in Harvey, IL on July 17, 1917, Boudreau joined the Cleveland Indians in 1938. Four seasons later, at the age of 24, he took over as Indians manager, with his popularity reaching national proportions in 1948 when he took the Indians to the World Championship as player-manager. Lou was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player that season, batting .355 with a career-high 18 homers, 106 RBI and 116 runs scored. Boudreau managed the Indians until the 1951 season. His string of nine consecutive years as Cleveland manager still stands as a club record. Lou retired as a player in 1952 after four games with the Boston Red Sox. His lifetime batting average is .295.

Boudreau was also an outstanding basketball talent as a schoolboy, playing for Thornton Township in Harvey, IL where he gained all-state honors in that sport. He also played basketball at the University of Illinois. Later, in 1938-39, Lou played professional ball for Ceisars All-Americans in Hammond, IN. The City of Cleveland honored Boudreau by naming a street bordering Cleveland Stadium Boudreau Blvd.

HARRY CARAY

Harry Caray, one of baseball's best known broadcasters, prefers to direct his broadcasting to "the man in the street" as he puts it. Now in his fourth season of doing the play-by-play for WGN television, Caray admits he prefers an extemporaneous touch.

"I'm not that much for statistics," says Caray. "I'm for human interest. I deal in humor and entertainment and in human nature...the human side of the story."

Caray, who came over to the North Side in 1982 after an 11-year stint of broadcasting Chicago White Sox games, will again be teamed in the TV booth with color man Steve Stone. Along with his TV work, Caray will do the middle three innings of play-by-play with Lou Boudreau on WGN radio.

Now in his 42nd season of broadcasting baseball, the native of St. Louis points with pride to a record "of never having missed a day of work, not even an inning." It all began with the St. Louis Cardinals during the great Stan Musial era, a team he used to watch as a boy growing up in that city. After 25 years of play-by-play work for the Cards, Caray joined the Oakland A's in 1970 for one season before moving over to the White Sox. While in St. Louis he was named recipient of The Sporting News' Announcer of the Year Award on six occasions. Furthermore, Harry has been recognized numerous times for broadcasting honors in Missouri and Illinois.

Caray began his apprenticeship in radio sports before World War II in Joliet, IL. Later he moved to Kalamazoo, MI before joining KMOX radio in St. Louis. He has broadcast boxing, football, basketball and hockey in addition to his baseball assignments.

Born in St. Louis on March 1, 1920, Harry's 7th inning stretch rendition of "Take Me Out To The Ballgame" has become a trademark of his in Chicago since the 1975 season.

VINCE LLOYD

The 1985 season will mark the 21st year that Cubs baseball and Vince Lloyd have been together. The longtime play-by-play man for WGN will continue in his dual role as both an announcer and a general manager of the Tribune Company's radio syndication.

Vince and WGN sports editor Jack Rosenberg were named in 1983 as general managers in the new venture. Both played major roles in increasing the number of stations and areas served. The network now serves approximately 50 radio outlets.

Along with his network duties, Vince will once again be providing color commentary in the WGN booth with Lou Boudreau. Besides providing his insight and commentary on the radio, Vince will host the post-game highlights show on WGN radio.

"Personally, I consider it an honor to have worked with some of the country's top play-by-play men. I consider Vince right up there among the best," said Boudreau, who has been broadcasting along side Vince since 1965. "When you work with people who are among the best it makes the production work like a team. His personality and loyalty to WGN go together."

Lloyd, born June 1, 1917, has been honored on numerous occasions as one of the country's top sports broadcasters. His background also includes years of calling Big Ten football games on WGN radio. One of the highlights of Vince's career came in 1961 when he became the first sports announcer to interview a United States President. Vince talked with President John F. Kennedy on WGN's Lead-Off Man show prior to the White Sox opener in Washington, D.C. against the Senators.

DEWAYNE STAATS

Dewayne became the newest member of the WGN baseball broadcasting team when he came aboard during the winter. Staats, who turns 33 on August 8, will handle radio play-by-play duties during the first three and final three innings along with Lou Boudreau. He will do color commentary during the middle three innings on television with Steve Stone.

Staats is a seasoned veteran despite his youthful appearance. He handled play-by-play for the Houston Astros on both television and radio from 1977 through last season, teaming with Gene Elston and Larry Dierker. Last season he also did TV play-by-play for Big Eight Conference and Southwest Conference basketball.

"Coming to WGN and doing Cub baseball was a career opportunity for me," said Staats. "I feel both fortunate and excited about being a part of Cubs baseball for the 1985 season. Chicago is flat out the best baseball town in the country."

From 1978 to 1983 Staats did radio play-by-play on the Texas A&M basketball network. Other past assignments included anchoring a nightly sports show on KPLR-TV in St. Louis (1975-76), doing radio play-by-play for the Oklahoma City 89ers baseball team (1973-74) and working on WOKZ radio in Alton, IL (1970-72), where he did a daily sportscast in addition to handling play-by-play of football, basketball and baseball contests in that area.

Staats' first major broadcasting assignment came as an intern for KMOX radio in St. Louis in the fall of 1972.

Staats is a graduate of Southern Illinois University and a product of Wood River Community High School in Wood River, IL.

One of his major achievements was co-hosting St. Louis' Emmy Award-winning "Weekend in St. Louis" show prior to joining the Astros. His top two broadcasting memories in Houston were calling Nolan Ryan's record fifth no-hitter against Los Angeles in 1981 and the Western Division title-clinching game for the Astros against the Dodgers in 1980.

Dewayne and his wife, Dee, have two daughters, Stephanie and Alexandra. Born in Advance, MO on August 8, 1952, Dewayne planned to move his family to the Chicago area shortly after the start of the '85 season.

Staats' hobbies include refinishing furniture, golf and snorkeling. Like Cubs manager Jim Frey, he is a Civil War and World War II buff.

STEVE STONE

The former Cy Young winner (1980) returns for his third season as color television analyst for WGN and will again work with Harry Caray. Stone will handle play-by-play chores on TV during the middle three innings. He will also handle pre-game TV assignments for the station, as well as a pre-game radio show.

Stone retired from baseball in June of 1982 because of an injury to his right arm. He finished his 11-year major league career with the Baltimore Orioles, where in 1980 he compiled a 25-7 record and 3.23 ERA to win the Cy Young Award in the American League. Steve's career in the big leagues also included three seasons with the Cubs (1974-76) when he turned in records of 8-6, 12-8 and 3-6 before moving over to the White Sox for two seasons. He won 27 games for the Sox against 24 losses. He also played on the South Side in 1973, going 6-11. Stone began his M.L. career with the San Francisco Giants in parts of the 1971 and 1972 seasons. Stone signed with San Francisco following the 1969 January free agent draft. He finished with a 107-93 record in the majors.

Steve was 0-2 against the Cubs lifetime. He was 20-14 in his first two seasons as a Cub pitcher before a sore shoulder limited him to 17 games and 75 innings in 1976. Steve was a batterymate of Thurman Munson at Kent State and was all-Mid American Conference and team captain his junior year. He played two years at Kent State.

Stone is a bachelor who was born in Cleveland on July 14, 1947. He opened a restaurant in Scottsdale, AZ in 1981 and another in Lake Tahoe. The '70 graduate of Kent State is a gourmet cook and wine connoisseur. He has written poetry and has been published in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago newspapers. Steve's hobbies include racquetball, reading and chess.

MESA—SPRING TRAINING HOME

The Cubs returned to Mesa and HoHoKam Park for a seventh consecutive spring training in 1985 after attracting 64,884 fans in 13 home dates during 1984. The average attendance of 4,991 per game established a new HoHoKam Park record, surpassing the 1983 figure of 4,427.

Overall, the Cubs came close to setting an all-time total attendance figure last spring. The Cubs attracted 66,405 fans in 1983, but that came in 15 home dates compared to 13 in 1984.

Further construction was planned for HoHoKam Park in the winter of 1985 which would increase capacity and expand locker room and front office areas. This continued the tradition of improvement by the HoHoKams, the group of local businessmen who have been so helpful in making the Cubs "spring" home one of the best facilities in all of major league baseball.

In 1983 the Cubs Executive Vice President and General Manager Dallas Green announced a new agreement that would keep the club at HoHoKam Park through the 1993 season.

In 1984 the Cubs had a 7-20 record against their Cactus League opponents. They were 5-8 at home and 2-12 on the road. The Cubs proved to be the top draw in Arizona, averaging 3,687 fans in 13 'A' road contests.

Collectively, the Cubs batted .267 and their pitching staff had a 5.03 ERA. Henry Cotto led the Cubs in hitting with a .359 mark (14-for-39). Larry Bowa had a .341 average (16-for-47) and Ron Cey batted .339 (20-for-59). Other regulars batted as follows: Jody Davis, .326; Leon Durham, .266; Keith Moreland, .312; Ryne Sandberg, .275. Richie Hebner hit .326. Bobby Dernier and Gary Matthews did not join the club until near the close of spring training after being acquired from the Philadelphia Phillies. Dernier went 3-for-16 and Matthews 0-for-4.

Cey and Davis paced the club with 12 RBI each while Davis and Durham each hit 4 home runs to top the club in that department. Cey's 20 hits led the team, followed by 19 from Sandberg.

Steve Trout led the pitching staff with a 2-2 mark and 2.25 ERA in six games. Rich Bordi had a 1-1 record and 3.46 ERA. Lee Smith was 0-2 with a 3.52 ERA and appeared in 10 games. Scott Sanderson was 0-4 with a 6.03 ERA in 31.1 innings. Only Trout, with 32 innings, pitched more often.

Since coming to HoHoKam Park in 1979, the Cubs have compiled spring training records of 14-10-1 (1979), 10-10-1 (1980), 8-12 (1981), 14-8-1 (1982), 12-16 (1983) and 7-20 (1984). In the last 18 springs, the best Cubs won-lost mark was in 1971 when they went 20-10.

When Chicago returned to Mesa in 1979 it re-established their spring training headquarters in that city after a 14-year hiatus. Previously the Cubs had trained at Rendevous Park.

Mesa is only the fourth training site used by the Cubs since 1921. The club trained for 26 years (1921-1951 excluding the World War II years) at Catalina Island off the coast of southern California. In 1952 the Cubs moved to Mesa and trained there until 1966 when they moved back to California and Long Beach for one spring. In 1967 the Cubs moved to Scottsdale, AZ and remained there until 1979.

Mesa is located just southeast of Scottsdale and Phoenix and has a population of more than 150,000. HoHoKam Park is located at 1235 North Center Street, just north of Brown Road.

HoHoKam Park opened on March 11, 1977 and was the spring training home of the Oakland A's.
